The annual May festival under the auspices of the Quincy Home Science Association, for the benefit of the Saturday afternoon at Quincy Music

The afternoon was an ideal one and hundreds of children were present and enjoyed themselves to their hearts content. No restraint was put upon them, they could make as much noise as they wanted to, and they certainly made the most of the opportunity.

At times it seemed as though all the children were talking at once, and the noise was almost deafening. It was no place for a crusty old bachelor and none were seen. The May party was scheduled to open at 2 o'clock, and half an before that time there was a surging mass of children before the outer doors waiting for them to open.

Tables for the sale of candy, ice cream and May baskets were arranged on the sides of the hall, while in one corner was the goose pen which proved reduced rate. a popular resort for the children. The children spent their money freely, and money when Henry H. Faxon appeared with tickets which he had agreed to redeem in cash. These were distributed mong the children.

STARVE THEM OUT!

Why not starve the germs to death? Scott's Emulsion will do it.

The germs of consumption are an invading army numbering millions upon millions; they must all be fed or they will soon die of starvation. A lung a little below "par" in vitality is just to their liking.

Why not put new life into it? Scott's Emulsion feeds the lungs. It fills the blood with nourishing food for all the weak parts. Good food means life. Life means resistive force.

Germs cannot live on healthy tissue. Scott's Emulsion and good fresh air drive out | 'low him ter boss me! - Butte Inter the germs of consumption.

THE UNIVERSAL EXPOSITION

The Achievements of Individuals and Nations Faithfully Recorded by This Encyclopedia of Society.

FREDERICK J. V. SKIFF, Director of Exhibits, World's Fair.

"The wisdom of all ages is none too great for the world's work." In this single salient sentence, uttered in his famous address at Buffalo in September, 1901, President McKinley described the object and the result of expositions.

A modern universal exposition is a collection of the wisdom and achievements of the world, for the inspection | The Merrymounts Defeat One of of the world, for the study of its experts, by which they may make comparisons and deduction and develop plans for future improvements and progress. Such a universal exposition might well be called an encyclopedia mount park. of society. It constitutes a classified, compact, indexed compendium of the achievements and ideas of society in all phases of its activity, extending to the most material as well as the most refined. It offers illustrations covering the full field of social performance, from the production of the shoes on our feet and the pavement beneath them to a presentation of the rarest and most delicate creations of the brains and hands of men in what are called the fine arts of civilization.

The Universal Exposition in St. Louis in 1904 will be such a social encyclopedia in the most comprehensive and accurate sense. It will give to the world in revised and complete details 'a living picture of the artistic and industrial development at which mankind has arrived" and will actually provide "a new starting point from which all men may direct future exertions." It will present for the inspection of specialists in all lines of industrial and social endeavor and for the public an assembly of the best which the world has done and has to show in industry, art and science, and, what Leach, c., 1b., is very important, it will offer these achievements of society, these trophies of civilization, in a highly selected, accurately classified array.

The creators of the St. Louis Exposition have had the experience of all previous great expositions by which to plan and effect its high organization. The continuous and repeated burden of the message of experience handed down by all expositions has been more perfect, more effective classification and arrangement of exhibits.

The classification of the St. Louis Exposition has been prepared to present a sequential synopsis of the developments that have marked man's progress. On its bases will be assembled the most highly organized exposition the world has yet seen.

The St. Louis classification is divided into 16 departments, 144 groups and 807 classes. These grand departments Mrs. Florentine Rizzi of Pearl street in their order will record what man has been the guest of friends in New has accomplished at this time with his Sullivan and Troup, faculties, industry and skill and the natural resources at his command in the environment in which he has been

HUB BAKERS ON STRIKE

Those In Surrounding Cities Also Quit Work In Effort to Secure Higher Wages and Fewer Number of Hours For Work

Boston, May 2.-With the exception of a strike of more than 1500 bakers in this city, Cambridge, Chelsea, Lynn, Salem and Brockton, the first day of May this year passed without any serious labor disturbances at any points in New England. Not for many years has the labor situation been so peaceful and harmonious as at the present time. At Calais, Vt., 50 granite workers, whose demand for an increase of 10 percent in wages was refused, agreed to work three days this week panding a conference between the local quarry owners and the Barre Granite Manufacturers' association. The strike situation at the Fore River

The strike situation at the Fore River Ship and Engine company at Quincy is unchanged, although it is claimed that some of the strikers have returned to some of the strikers have returned to

A strike of 400 carpenters employed in Springfield and Chicopee was declared last night. The men demanded a daily wage increase of 50 cents, which was refused by the employers. The strike of the stone masons at

The long threatened strike of more than 1400 bakers in Boston and neighboring cities went into effect at 6 o'clock last night. The day men quit work at 6 o'clock and the night shifts, which usually go to work at that nour, failed to appear in their accustomed The daily output of bread in Boston is from 300,000 to 350,000 loaves, and this supply will be practically cut off. In all of the bakeries the employers were making feeble attempts to keep their shops in operation, but all admitted that the outlook for a production of any size was poor. The larger hotels and restaurants will not be affected by the strike, as the employes of those places that bake their own bread and pastry are members of the Cooks and Waiters' union and will not be called out. The smaller hotels and restaurants that depended on the bakeries for their supply of bread, cake and pies, will feel seriously the effects of the strike. The proprietors of the bakeries banded together in the Master Bakers' assocation, have refused absolutely to grant the demands of the men, and have declared that in the future they will operate "open shops."

The employes' demands were embodied in a new working agreement which they presented to the master bakers and which, in the event of the latter signing, would have prevented strikes and lockouts for one year, pro vision having been made for the arbitration of all differences. These denands were as follows:

All employes in the bakeries must be members of the Journeymen Bakers' union; 60 hours shall constitute a week's work; night men shall not work more than six nights, nor day men more than six days in a week, nor shall any employe work more than two hours overtime; foremen shall be paid $18 a Carpets Taken Up week; second hands and oven men shall be paid $16 a week; no one shall receive less than $15 a week; every loaf of bread must bear the "union label."

These demands the master bakers refused to grant. They were willing at first to renew the working agreement in force during the past year, but now declare that they will not sign any agreement nor recognize the union in any way. The strike of the bakers is not confined to Boston, Chelsea and Cambridge. Strikes were ordered in the districts centering in Lynn, Salem and Brockton. At Fall River and Waltham the unions have deferred action for one week in the hope that the master bakers will agree to their demands. The strike just declared is the second blow the baking industry in this section has suffered during the past two months. Recently the master bakers reduced the size of the loaves, claiming that the high price of flour made it im possible for them to produce loaves of standard size without suffering a loss.

Peace Among Painters Manchester, N. H., May 2.-The

THE WORD HUMBUG

There Are Various Plausible Expianations of Its Origin.

The word "humbug" has been traced back to the title page of "The Universal Jester, a choice collection of merry conceits, bonmots and humbugs, by Ferdinando Killigrew, London, 1735-40." The following are the most plausible and possible deriva-

WRITERS' CRAMP.

It Is a Sort of Paralysis of Either the Muscles or Nerves.

Writers' cramp, which is more paralysis than cramp, is caused by excessive writing, especially when in a weak or depressed condition. It is still a matter of doubt whether this embarrasscentral nervous system or whether it arises in the muscles involved.

Duchenne, one of the highest authorities on nerve diseases, holds that it is an affection of the great nerve centers for local treatment of the hand does no good, and cramp rapidly appears in the left hand if the sufferer transfers the work to it. It is probably caused by the complete exhaustion of some portion of the brain which presides over the movements of the group of muscles involved.

Rest is the chief, if not the only, cure, though the substitution of a keyboard typewriter in the early stage is often of no avail. A dial machine, which must be grasped with finger and thumb, is not so successful. Pianists, violinists, telegraph clerks, tailors and many others suffer from a simils cramp.

They Are Harmless In the Daytime but Vicious at Night.

In the daytime, when sunlight stim ulates their nutrition, plants can do sorbing from the air the carbon which is injurious to animal life. We may therefore conclude that during the hours of darkness, when the respiratory process is active and the nutritive is at a standstill, plants should have no place in our bedrooms. What is prudent in spacious wards is imperative in smaller chambers.

ANCIENT CHAIRS.

The Seats Used by the Egyptians In Early Historic Times.

Seats more or less resembling stools -that is, seats without backs-were in general use among nations possessing a certain degree of civilization in prehistoric times. What those were like in the early historic period we know from an examination of Egyptian monuments, from a study of Greek vases or from Eutrurian or Roman antiquities that are stored in European museums. The Egyptian deities are seated generally on granite blocks, the backs of which are raised a few inches only, giving a distant resemblance to a chair. That the Egyptians had seats more comfortable for domestic use is possible, but we have every reason to suppose, although they possessed a high degree of civilization, that their idea of home comforts was not that of modern times.

The common people probably sat on blocks of stone or wood or sprawled about on the ground with some sort of carpet that also served for a bed. The Etrurians, ancient inhabitants of Italy before the arrival of the Romans, appear to have preferred the reclining posture, in which they are usually represented on the sarcophaguses in the

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP.

Just Pretend You Don't Want to and You'll Soon Drop Off.

When we are kept awake from our fatigue the first thing to do is to say lunch was served. The decorations over and over to ourselves that we do were pink and green. The souvenirs not care whether we go to sleep or not, pink and green May baskets filled with in order to imbue ourselves with a May flowers and each one containing a healthy indifference about it. It will several stories, and gave a reading indifference to say: "I am too tired to which was very much appreciated by sleep, and therefore the first thing for me to do is to get rested in order to prepare for sleep. When my brain is well rested it will go to sleep; it cannot help it. When it is well rested it will sleep just as naturally as my lungs breathe or as my heart beats."

Another thing to remember-and it is very important—is that an overtired brain needs more than the usual nourishment. If you have been awake for your last meal take half a cup or a cup of hot milk. If you are awake for another two hours take half a cup more, and so, at intervals of about two hours, so long as you are awake throughout the night. Hot milk is nourishing and a sedative. It is not inconvenient to have milk by the side of one's bed, and a little saucepan and a spirit lamp.—Leslie's Weekly.

WOODEN BREAD. It Is Possible to Make a Palatable Loaf From Sawdust.

As long ago as 1834 Professor Auterith of Tubingen succeeded in making a tolerably good quartern loaf out of a removed by maceration and boiling; had the taste and smell of corn flour. A sponge was then made by the addition of water and the sour leaven of corn flour, and it was baked and found to be better than a compound of bran

Wood flour boiled in water forms also a nutritious jelly, which the professor found both palatable and wholesome in the form of gruel, dumplings and pancakes. Professor Brande has also recorded the making of bread from woody fiber. He says: "Before me is a specimen imported from Sweden. Seeing the close relation between the composition of starch and lignine, the conversion of the latter into bread does not seem so remarkable." He also cannot praise the quality of such bread.

Spots on the Fur of Animals. Although we are told that the leopard cannot change his spots, it is certain that the markings on the fur of some animals do change. Especially is this true where the animal has a distinctive winter coat. This change has been studied by Barrett Hamilton, a British naturalist, who is of opinion that whitening of the fur generally accompanies development of fatty tissue, which is manifestation of insufficient oxidation and hence of atrophy, which shows itself in a whitening of the hair. In some animals-man for instancethis atrophy is manifested by baldness. That fat men are often bald is thus something more than a coincidence .-

The Tick of a Clock. The "tick tock" that is universally regarded as the sound of both pendulum and spring clocks has been investigated by Dr. Rosenbach, a Berlin psychologist. He finds that the "tick" results when the right arm of the escapement anchor strikes a cog of the wheel moving upward, while the "tock" is produced when the other arm strikes a cog moving downward. The different conditions give different acoustic effects.

Medical Examiner Explodes Theories by Finding That Groom of Four Days Pulled Trigger of Rifle With His Foot

Cost Russia Over 2000 Men to Delay Japs' Crossing Yalu

ZASSALITCH IS CENSURED

Gave Order Which Resulted In Loss of Men and Guns--Port from military critics, one of whom pro-Arthur Believed to Have Been Effectually Blocked by Japs

St. Petersburg, May 5.-The Russian losses at the battle of Kiu Lien Cheng were 40 officers and 2000 non-commissioned officers and men, far greater than previous reports indicated.

This is the official estimate of Major General Kashtalinsky, who directly commanded the division that suffered the brunt of the attack and whose report was received last evening by the ezar. Many are inclined to place the Russian losses even higher. General lines for war purposes. Kashtalinsky mentions also that more than 700 wounded had arrived at Feng Wang Cheng and these may not be included in his calculation. He made no attempt to estimate the Japanese if it is rough go to the druggist and buy for losses, merely stating that they must him a package of "EASY-SHAVE," the proximately his maximum strength. have been colossal.

The magnitude of the Russian losses authorities and aroused general grief, smooth. Price, 15c. mitigated only by satisfaction at the bravery displayed by the Russian troops. Not for a moment was there any intention to pay such a terrible price for delaying the enemy's crossing of the Yalu. This fact was known throughout the city and gave rise to renewed reports, attributed to official sources, that General Kuropatkin had officially censured General Zassalitch. If this was so General Kuropat kin's telegaphed criticism of Zassa-litch was carefully cut out of the dispatches which have been published and the general impression now held is that he will remain in Manchuria.

General Kashtalinsky's report estabwas given the post of honor at the rear,

By the time the latter movement commenced the Japanese had almost surrounded the Russian position. The Twelfth regiment was compelled to charge with the bayonet and succeeded in breaking through the enemy's line The Second battery's quick-firing de tachment, without horses, could not move the gups and were compelled to abandon them. The men of the Second battery put their shoulders to the wheels in an effort to push the guns up the mountain side, but the Japanese fire was so hot that they returned to the protection of the Eleventh regiment. Nearer and nearer approached the apanese and a charge upon the Eleventh regiment and the Second battery was imminent, so the guns were abandoned. Then a priest led the troops and they began the terrible march across the valley.

"Kiu Lien Cheng is history and we must now deal with impending events," said an officer of the general staff last Put in while you wait. Warranted two years evening.

General Kastalinsky's insistence on the fact that he was ordered to accept battle by Zassalitch is interpreted as SANDBERG BROS., showing his intention to throw the responsibility upon that officer for risking a fight with his inferior forces and to confirm the reports that Zassalitch has been censured.

The idea has prevailed that the Russians would not make a stand at Feng Wang Cheng, but the fact that a Japanese occupation of that point would enable a movement to the southwest, thus cutting off the Liao Tung peninsula, which is taken into consideration by the authorities, leads to the expectation that Kuropatkin will dispatch reinforcements there and make a determined stand.

The activity of the Japanese, it is remarked here, is not only north of the Yalu, on which there is constant scouting, but also off the Liao Tung peninsula, though the failure to seal Port Arthur may interfere with the operations they had been expected to carry out on the west coast of the peninsula.

PORT ARTHUR "CORKED" Indications That Japs Have at

Last Accomplished Task London, May 5.-The opinion gains ground here that the Japanese have at last effectually blocked Port Arthur. No official Japanese report on the subject has yet been received, but the Tokio correspondents are very positive regarding the matter and describe the de- JOHNSON & BROOKS, termination with which the enterprise was undertaken. The Daily Telegraph's correspondent declares that the entrance to Port Arthur is "absolutely sealed" and adds that the Japanese fleet, in effecting its purpose, steamed into the entrance at full speed and that the naval officers who made the two previous attampts begged permission to carry out the next attack by daylight, that being easier, and their request was granted. "So determined were they to succeed," adds the correspondent, "that they decided, if necessary, to lose half their men. The number of casualties sustained by the Japanese has not been announced."

In tavor of the supposition of Japanese success in blocking Port Arthur it s pointed out that the previous attempts had left the channel so narrow that a couple of vessels sunk in the fairway would probably suffice to seal

Hearst's support, aside from that hanging in the balance in the middle west, will include a good many scat-Fe ces, Trellises and Hen Coops, tered delegates, like those of Rhode Island, South Dakota, and the greater part of the Kansas contingent. Iowa Democrats For Hearst HAIR MATTRESSES made over and Des Moines, May 5.-W. R. Hearst carried the Iowa Democratic convention by a majority of more than 150 votes. Hearst resolutions were adopted, Hearst delegations from the contesting counties were seated and Hearst delegates were selected. The delegates were instructed to vote as a unit. The convention was boisterous and the orators, of whom there were many on both sides, were hissed, some of them being driven from the stage.

Everything to Suit Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., May 5.-W. J. Bryan controlled the Democratic convention in his home county and a platform reaffirming the Kansas City platform was adopted. No names for the presidential nomination were mentioned, the convention voting to adopt the unit rule and practically agreeing to act as Bryan thinks best in the national con-

Negro Presidential Candidate St. Louis, May 5.-The executive committee of the National Liberty party has completed arrangements for holding a national convention here on July 6. The party is composed of negroes throughout the country and it is stated that the convention will nominate candidates for president and vice president.

Debs Declines Candidacy

Chicago, May 5.-When the Socialist national convention met to nominate candidates for president and vice president the delegates were met by a report that Eugene V. Debs would decline to accept the nomination for the presidency. It is believed that Debs may alter his decision.

FIRST USE OF GAS.

The Way the Idea of Using It For Light Was Ridiculed.

Great was the amazement of all Europe when at about the close of the century William Murdoch discovered hard, that gas could be used for ...luminating purposes. So little was the invention understood by those who had not seen it in use that even the great and wise (?) men of the British parliament laughed at the idea. "How can there be light without a wick?" said one member of that august body, with a Hopkins, and it is too early to say what wink and a knowing nod. Even the great Sir Humphry Davy ridiculed the idea of lighting towns and cities with gas. He one day asked Murdoch, "Do operation of the unit rule. At all you mean to use the dome of St. Paul's for your gas meter?" Sir Walter Scott also made merry of the gas idea and of the coming attempt to "illuminate London with smoke from a tar fac-

INSTANT DEATH.

It Is Not So Quick but That the Mind Has Time to Act.

It is questionable if such a phenomenon as instant death is known to the scientist and investigator. Physicians and surgeons tell us that death by gunshot wound is the easiest mode of terminating life, yet, rapid as such a mode of taking off must necessarily be, the body has leisure to feel and time to reflect and on rare occasions even to act.

JAPANESE POETRY.

of a Yellow Peril. "Talking about the yellow peril, did you ever stop to think about the people of Japan seriously?" asked a man who thinks well of the Flowery Kingdom. "If you have not it would be well for you to look into a few things before you make up your mind on the issues involved in the struggle now being made in the far east. For instance, here is a thing I take from Japanese verse of about the eighth century:

"SHE. "While other women's husbands ride Along the road in proud array, My husband up the rough hillside On foot must wend his weary way.

"The grievous sight with bitter pain My bosom fills, and many a tear Steals down my cheek, and I would fain Do aught to help my husband dear.

"Come! Take the mirror and the veil, My mother's parting gifts to me. In barter they must sure avail To buy a horse for thee! "But listen to what the husband says in response to this noble offer: "If I should purchase me a horse, Must not my wife still sadly walk? No. no! Though stony is our course, We'll trudge along and sweetly talk. "Now, what do you think of that for a yellow peril? What do the men and women of this beautiful and altogether delightful country think about the people who would thus regard the sacred relationship which ought to exist between the husband and the wife? I will not press the question. At any rate there is no such thing as a yellow peril when you come to think of it. Firstly, here is a man who was considering his wife in an affectionate way, in a section of the world where we did not expect to find it. But mark you with what nobility she met the issue:

"Take the mirror and the veil, My mother's parting gifts to me. "This is no small offer for a woman to make. She loves the mirror and the veil. She will love them more if they are her mother's parting gifts. Yet there is somehow ample compensation in the refusal and the promise of the husband:

"We'll trudge along and sweetly talk. "My dear fellow, the Jap is not a heathen. He is very far from it. He is probably farther from it than we dream at times. At any rate let us forget the yellow peril."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Eggs New Yorkers Eat.

Few people are aware of the venerable age of the average egg that reaches the New York market. From some litigation between an egg commission house and a wholesale egg company in Iowa interesting facts are disclosed. The case has just been decided by the appellate division. On the 20th of April, 1899, the plaintiff bought five carloads of eggs of the Iowa company. These were kept in storage in Sioux City until the following winter, and all of them did not reach this city until Jan. 8, 1900. But then they did not reach the market, for there was a dispute as to their condition and quality, the purchaser maintaining that they were not of the quality ordered and the seller replying that any deterioration was due to the time in storage. Then the purchaser sold them for what he could get and sued the Iowa folks for the mirrors." - Philadelphia Public the difference between what he receiving apartment, or the couch itself. Advertisements on the Flag.

The denial of the power of a state legislature to prohibit the use of the national flag for advertising on the ground that it is not a proper exercise of the police power impliedly denies that any question of public policy of the state is involved in such use of the flag or else denies that the legislature is the proper authority to determine what such public policy is. Though two able courts have decided that such a statute is unconstitutional, there seems to be nevertheless much reason in contending that this is a question of public policy, which it is the business of the legislature and not of the courts to decide. But if it be correct to hold that the state law cannot prohibit the use of a representation of the flag in connection with advertising it does not follow that congress might not do so.-Case and Comment.

CANNOT STOP A LANDING

Intends to Strike After Invaders Are Ashore--Port Arthur Will Be as Good as Besieged Should Japs Cross the Railroad

Tokio, May 6.-It is officially anounced that a Japanese force begun anding on the Liao Tung peninsula resterday. The place where the landing is occuring and the number of men being landed is withheld.

St. Petersburg, May 6.-With Vice Admiral Togo hovering in the immediate vicinity of Port Arthur and transports loaded with troops lying at Pitsewo, northeast of that stronghold, Russia has braced herself for impending conflicts with the foe, when she will again play a defensive role, this time, it is hoped, with better success and, therefore, with less sacrifice of life than in the engagements on the Yalu. The war commission sat until 2 o'clock this morning, and at the close of the session it was announced that there was nothing to communicate to the public. It is known, however, that the czar has been informed of the presence of a Japanese fleet off the Liao Shan promontory and the appearance of transports at Pitsewo. The fact that the two events occurred simultaneously may have significance. If a landing should take place at Pitsewo the experts anticipate that Togo's battleship squadron will bombard Port Arthur in order to prevent the garrison from sending reinforcements by railroad to the troops oposing the Japanese there. Neither the admiralty nor the war office believes that a disembarkation of the Japanese can be stopped, as the guns of the Jap anese cruisers could command the point of landing, but after the Japanese are ashore then the Russians will strike. What force they will be able to bring up to resist the invaders cannot be stated definitely, the strength of the army on the peninsula of Liao Tung having been kept a secret.

It is expected that the railroad will play an important part in the effort of the Russians to push the Japanese into the sea, as it will permit the rapid transportation of troops.

The general staff has not forgotten that Japanese ships were sighted May 3 off Kaiping and Siniuchen, on the west Ours are pertect fitting, well made and worth ered, if necessary, from New Chwang. exceed $100.

An important advantage would ac crue to the Japanese should they succeed in establishing themselves at Pitsewo. From there radiate roads connecting with the railroad at Yang Ti, Tien, directly west to south with the railroad nearer to Port Arthur, north with Kaiping, and northeast through Takushan with Feng Wang

Cheng. A landing at this moment would to concentrate a formidable force trifling. against General Kuroki, whose forward movement is not yet reported. Furthermore, once the Japanese are across the railroad Port Arthur will be as good as besieged. A member of the general staff says that Kuropatkin is well aware of these considerations. Even if the Japanese should succeed in cutting the railroad Port Arthur is now ready to depend on its own resources. Dispatches from Tokio telling of celebrations over the sealing of Port Ar-FRANK A. LOCKE thur, it is stated, are premature, official advices establishing that the attempt of Vice Admiral Togo May 3 to seal the port failed. The absence of press dispatches te!1ing of the fight on the Yalu is partially explained by the heavy mortality among the correspondents. Three of The Novosti's correspondents are miss-Offices - Quincy-Linscott's Store and Carl- ing and it is believed they were killed, while The Russ lost one of its correspondents. The other journals are wir-Ing to ascertain if their representatives are alive.

Port Arthur's Fate In Doubt London, May 6.-Viceroy Alexieff's departure from Port Arthur is interpreted here to mean that the place is in imminent danger of isolation and the Japanese preparations for landing are considered as confirming the belief that Port Arthur has been sealed up, probably by two of the sunken ships which Russia failed to locate. It is supposed that the Japanese will make a supreme effort to cut off Port Arthur before the arrival of Vice Admiral Skrydloff. The Russian military authorities are

Howard Street. the City Council is the persistent demand for the watering of at least a portion of East Howard street which passes the offices of the Fore River

Ship and Engine Company. In 1902 the street watering schedule included: South street to East Howard street, East Howard street for its entire length and also a portion of West Howard street, Howard avenue and Des-Moines road.

Is Over the Watering of East

The Quincy Neck people claim 'that by some sharp practice most of these streets were omitted in the schedule of Many of the Strikers Getting 1903 so that South street and only a small part of East Howard street were watered last year, that portion between South street and DesMoines road.

At the same time it was observed that the same cart watered parts of South street not included in the order. namely Carter's hill and Harlow's hill, from which the city received no revenue by assessment.

The first street watering order which most needed. was passed this year included all of East Howard street, that between Des-Moines road and Quincy avenue being in addition to last year.

This order Mayor Bryant vetoed, claiming that the street mileage should not be increased without increasing the appropriation. The veto was sustained. The second street watering order curtailed the distance on East Howard street, so that the only addition was between DesMoines road and Newomb's store. This also was vetoed. A majority of the Council voting were veto, the vote being-11 yeas and 10 nays-but a two-thirds vote was required.

It is said there would have been the order over the veto, but that some of will work for the company's interest as the Councilmen desired to get even they have always done. The men are with those who did not stand by Bigelow street and Centre street. Now it is said that the committee will further reduce the distance on East Howard street, stopping at Howard avenue, which will be 750 feet in adlition to the 1903 schedule.

He struck out five and gave only three bases on balls. Had he been well supported the score would have been closer.

An officer of the Shipwrights' union says that applications for men are being received from out of town every day and that the men who need work the most are given these jobs.

The address of all of these men who have left town for work elsewhere is retained, and as soon as the present trouble is settled they will return to work in Quincy. The Fore River plant is practically the only nine hour plant in the country and therefore the best of the mechanics are employed here.

He does not say whether the reports that he is to be chairman of the Republican national committee are true or not, but politicians who heard what he said concluded that he is to arrange Roosevelt's campaign. If this is ever done, it will expected that Alexander Troup, the leader of the Hearst movement in Connecticut, would take exception to the selection made by the state central committee. Delegates went into the convention expectant of a contest at the outset, but when the convention was called to order De Forest was introduced and had begun his address on national affairs almost before the delegates were aware of it.

The convention will choose delegates to the St. Louis convention and at the same time effect a reorganization of the state central committee under the new senatorial re-districting. The session last night was that of a temporary organization, which will be made permanent after the caucuses have selected a new state committee.

Constant Pressure on Pekin Government Necessary

St. Petersburg, May 6.—The effect of the disaster to Russian arms on the Yalu upon the Chinese is watched with keen interest and considerable apprehension. The Russian government appears to be satisfied with the situation for the moment and Paul Lessar, Russian minister at Pekin, is making daily reports to the foreign office.

The Pekin government, according to Russian reports, seems to be acting in perfect good faith and insists that it is intent upon preserving neutrality. It is turning a deaf ear to the appeals of anti-Russian leaders, who want China to throw in her lot with Japan. Nevertheless, the Russian authorities regard China as a powder magazine. They realize the danger in the present situation and the necessity for constant pressure on the Pekin government,

The danger of an anti-foreign movement throughout the Chinese empire exists not only for Russia, but for all the powers, and Russia has, at least three times since the outbreak of the war, addressed the powers on the subject. The answers received uniformly show a full appreciation of the need of exercising a restraining influence on erating to this end.

in which $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 is involved. Warner, Barnes & Co., a British corporation, sued for tariffs collected at Manila upon importations of merchandise from the United States after the treaty of peace with Spain, and it was argued that under the authority of the insular cases, lately decided by the supreme court of the United States, the levy and collection of such tariffs was illegal for the reason that at the time of such collection the Philippine archipelago was not a foreign country in respect to the United States after the exchange of ratifications of the treaty by the governments of the United States and Spain.

Judge Wright, in rendering the opinon, following the decision in the insular cases, decided that the Philippine islands were not foreign country in respect to the United States, but distinguished the case from the insular cases, holding that a state of war existed throughout the islands between the United States and the Filipinos to the extent that the treaty with Spain and all other merely civil law was for the time being suspended and superseded by military law, until such time as it might be possible to establish civil, administrative and judicial authority to enforce the civil law, and that during such period of suspension of the civil law the power of the military commander was absolute, and that he might lawfully prohibit or restrict trade or commerce, and, as a condition to commerce within his military district, might impose contribution to assist in the expenses of the war, and such care to indigent non-combatants as humanity might require.

The Name Patterson.

Tompkins with a "p" is not more significant than Patterson with two "t's" if tradition is to be trusted. According to the story that has come down from the sixteenth century, the Pattersons all spelled the name with one "t" before Queen Elizabeth set about marking those of her subjects who left the ancient Catholic faith and cast their lot with the Church of England. She jusisted that all the Protestant Pattersons take to themselves have followed that mode of spelling the name.-London Standard.

St. Petersburg, May 7.-Japanese troops swarming across the narrow neck of the Liao Tung peninsula, the railroad and telegraph communications cut and the Russian Gibraltar isolated and left to its own resources-all this the Russians seem to accept with great stoicism. The authorities assert that 7.00 the fortress is impregnable and amply provisioned to stand a siege for a year, 7.00 and that it can hold out until the time comes to relieve it.

According to official information the landing of troops from 60 transports began simultaneously at Pitsewo and Cape Terminal on the morning of May 5. Vice Admiral Skrydloff and Vice Admiral Bezobrazoff cannot now reach Port Arthur and will probably go to Vladivostok to join the cruiser squadron there. Rear Admiral Wittesoeft, who was left in charge of the fleet by Viceroy Alexieff, will direct operations at Port Arthur. Despite the greater number of Japanese, the general staff believes that their formidabl fortifications still leave the defensive superiority with the Russians, whose staying qualities, it is confident, will ensure their holding out as long as necessary. While the outer line of fortifications extends to Kinchow, unquestionably no determined effort will be made to hold them, nor is it expected that a desperate attempt to retain Dalny will be made. Therefore, the commander-in-chief is waiting at Liao Yang until the enemy's plans shall have developed sufficiently to show just what line it is proposed to pursue.

Now that the uncertainty is partially dispelled, Kuropatkin, from the interior lines, is free to act. "JOINT THREE ACCOUNT"

Partner Hawley Put In No Capital but Was to Have Twenty-Five Percent Profit as Share--Sully Finally Wanted Aid

New York, May 7 .- In the D. J. Sully & Co. bankruptcy proceedings Daniel J. Sully described the membership of the firm of Sully & Co. The capital of $500,000, all paid in, was contributed by him Jan. 1, 1904. The partnership existed in 1903 without any formal papers being signed.

The witness was asked by his counsel, Elihu Root, to tell about the orders he received to make purchases and sales for what has been called the "joint three account."

"Mr. Hawley thought it would be advisable to have Mr. Gates in the pool," said the witness. "I thought the three of us sufficient to carry it through. I was about to go on a vacation, but they thought the market strong and a good greatest interest. It is believed that it time to make the purchase. It was talked over by us for several days, and finally we decided to do it."

The witness then told how he said to Hawley he would have to have money on March 18 and Hawley said he would give his share.

"What was the particular reason you thought you would need money the

"He was to put in no capital, but was to have 25 percent as his share. I drew up an agreement-not an agreement on his part, but a letter which I signed. It simply read that he was to have 25 percent of the profits of D. J. Sully & Co. for one year from Aug. 1, 1903.

"Walter S. Crandall, a relative of Hawley, was known as a member of the firm. He had no interest because his relatives objected, but his name was used with his consent. In January, Hawley wanted another written agreement. No new agreement was made, however. He did not ask for an accounting. He knew everything the firm did and I consulted him constantly about the firm's and my own financial affairs. Before I went abroad last summer I gave Hawley $125,000. In September of last year he conducted the sale of about $600,000 in securities for Mrs. Sully."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

The Famous Case of Lesurques of the Lyons Mail. The most famous of all cases of mistaken identity is that of Lesurques, charged with the robbery and murder of the courier of the Lyons mail, which has been so vividly brought home to us through the dramatic play based upon it. Lesurques was positively identified as a man who had traveled by the mail coach, and he was in due course convicted. Yet at the eleventh hour a woman came into court and declared his innocence, swearing that the witnesses had mistaken him for another, Duboscq, whom he greatly resembled. She was the confidant of one of the gang who had planned and carried out the robbery. But her testimony, although corroborated by other confederates, was rejected, and Lesurques received sentence of death. Lesurques died protesting his innocence to the last. Four years elapsed before Duboscq was captured. In the interval others of the gang had passed through the hands of the police, but the prime mover was only now taken. Even then he twice escaped from prison. When finally he was put on his trial and the judge ordered a fair wig, such as Lesurques had worn, to be placed on his head, the strange likeness was met in Hawley's rooms. I did not know immediately apparent. He denied his guilt, but was convicted and guillovirtually a declaration of bankruptcy tined. Thus two men suffered for one

Love and a Theory

By Edward C. Lampson

Copyright, 1903, by Edward C. Lampson

OUR years ago a southern girl, with a voice filled with that teries of the other's sympathetic heart. All too soon the happy vacation days to make a spirit of dry bones. passed. I returned to my country office, while a thousand miles intervened. Knowing the differences that existed by nature in our circumstances and inbred convictions, I lacked the courage to fall hopelessly in love with Miss Martin. Although conscience informed me that delicate advances would not be rebuffed, yet this monitor at the same time increased my conviction that I had no moral right to encourage a reciprocity of deep sentiment.

Because of my northern birth and respect for the unaristocratic simplicities of republicanism I resisted the temptation to win this sweet girl's love. No matter how refined, such training as mine could not always harmonize with those innate opinions held by one who counted the heritage of the south-its democratic aristocracy-of supreme importance.

But there came a day when no amount of reasoning or struggling with my honor concealed from me that I loved Elizabeth Martin, nor any doubt of the full return of love from that noble little girl in Dixie. But no sooner had this conviction mastered me than the struggle was renewed to make my will the dominator. I committed no wrong in loving, but the wrong lay in permitting any evidence of such passion to appear to Elizabeth.

Elizabeth Martin was the daughter of General Richard Martin, a man of wealth and power. Of his wife and daughter he asked only that they grace his home, treat his guests with distinctive courtesy and maintain the traditions of his family. But Elizabeth Martin sought more than the pleasure and honor of balancing the family social accounts. She sought no career. She asked no higher goal than honorable wifehood and mother-

But did Elizabeth Martin understand the sacrifices wifehood and motherhood imposed upon a high spirited girl, especially when those conditions are made more difficult by the commonplace associations and duties of the average man's wife, who from choice or necessity must be companion and cook, housekeper and nurse, business adviser and pincher of the nimble nickel?

There seemed to be but one answer to this question. She did not and could not understand. This answer left me no moral right to assume even the possibilities of our matrimonial alliance. From that day began my first discourtesy. I made no reply to her let-

For a few weeks this discourtest made no difference with Elizabeth. Her letters continued their cheerfulness, their encouragement and literary brilliance until suddenly stricken by my lack of appreciation, fearing she had made too great a committal, a few deliberately cold lines asked the ques-

with the errors of this romance, would have welcomed a public horsewhipping. I could tolerate no further deay in ending this unfortunate matter. That I deserved no further consideration, even if our circumstances in life were compatible, I knew and accepted as final. Elizabeth Martin must cease to be an important factor in my life. In order to facilitate this removal I determined to adopt the theory that love is a condition subject to mental control, and, after finding some one whose experiences, ambitions and circumstances were in harmony, to win her ove and to place my affections and welfare in her keeping.

The good and the undesirable features of the unmarriageable young women of the neighborhood were studied with interest. There were many favorable points in each one who, unknown to herself, of course, was a candidate for my matrimonial net. However, none was exactly satisfactory. Some expected too much of the man. Few were willing to bear their share and were prone to grumble. Some didn't like the town and wouldn't live in Myersburg for a "mint of money." Every one of them could spend money faster than three young lawyers could earn it. They seemed to have an idea that money grew on trees and all that was necessary was to continue to shake the paternal limb. The other objections were common enough, though they are more the fault of the mother who is ambitious and who has forgotten the romance of the struggle of her own young wifehood and remembers only the bitterness of that i struggle to keep up appearances while scraping and saving to found a home and a comfortable fortune. The only romance mother or daughter looks forward to in these days includes three servants, a maid, a butler and a French non, described by both Ulloa and Bonger, was first observed by the first named gentleman during the stay of One morning at daybreak the whole dense fog. After a short while the atmosphere became tolerably clear with the exception of a few vaporous clouds. While the travelers were watching the gradual disappearance of the fog one of them turned quickly and perceived an image of himself distinctly mirrored on that quarter of the sky opposite the rising sun. The figure appeared to stand in the center of three concentric rings which were shaded with different colors, while around was a fourth and much larger ring tinted with but a single hue. The outermost edge of each of the interior rings was crimson, the next orange, with a shade of pale yellow, the innermost tint being of a brilliant green. When first seen these rings were hardly circular in form, but they soon became perfect. But as they did so, which depended on the rising of the sun toward the zenith, the colors gradnally disappeared until finally the whole apparition faded like a mirage from the gaze of the astonished scientists.

Whiskey and, Beer Habit PERMANENTLY CURED BY

A SAFE, SURE AND HARMLESS SPECIFIC

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health. No "will power" can heal the inflamed stomach membranes. "ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, impro the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary; "ORRINE can be taken at your own home without publicity. Can be given secretly if desired.

Mrs. W. L. D., Helena, Mont., writes: "I have waited one year before writing you of the permanent cure of my son. He took sanitarium treatment, as well as other advertised cures, but they all failed until we gave him 'ORRINE.' He is now fully restored to health and has no desire for drink."

WANTS 1908 NOMINATION

Considers His Age No Barrier | week ended March 19. and Has Further Encouragement From the Fact That Political Geography Favors Him

Washington, May 7.-The real reason why "Uncle Joe" Cannon emphatically and sincerely declares his unwillingness to be a vice presidential candidate is not far to seek. After all the other reasons have been told there is still the most important one, that he is building for the presidency in 1908.

There is no great secret about this. The many members of congress who have had their legs under the same mahogany with the speaker during the last winter are not surprised by it. Of demand for more goods comes along. course the talk has been simply of the post-prandial sort which flourishes in cigar smoke. But it is in such talk that great movements often have their

As a presidential candidate "Uncle Joe" thinks he has every reason for fighting off the vice presidential nomination. To accept it-and be electedwould cut short a career in the speakership which has only just begun; it would strip him of all real power, and render him as useless as a china doll. If, on the other hand, he remains where he is and carries out his policy of restoring the prestige of the people's house and defending it against the encreachments of the senate, his friends tell him that when the next convention is held it will be to nominate him for The fact that Cannon will be 72 years of age when the national convention of 1908 is held is not regarded here as a barrier to his availability for the Republican nomination. At present Cannon feels his years no more than the average man of 50. He is of that thin, wiry, active build that defies time and work, and may be found trotting about in full possession of his faculties at a hundred. In his 30 years' service in congress he cannot recollect a day when he has been kept from his duties by illness. And anyone who has seen m wrestling with conference reports and fighting the biennial battle with the senate in the small hours between midnight and dawn, after continuous sessions all the day and possibly all the night before; minus collar, tie, cuffs; with waistcoat unbuttoned and flaring. his grizzled hair ruffled and tangled, and the end of his unlighted cigar chewed to a frazzle, pounding his desk and shouting defiance to the senate until the veins stand out in blue against the ruddy background of his foreheadrd, anyone who has seen "Uncle that there is promise of vigor for many more than four, eight or 16 years.

The managers of the Cannon presidential boom believe that their candithat the annon type of American publie life-the blunt, humorous, plain, honest-is the most beloved of all by the great body of the people, and that there never will come a time or an issue when such a leader will not attract abundant support.

But, beside the considerations mentioned, there are some of a geographical order which have to be weighed by students of practical politics, and these furnish additional proofs of his availability. Generally one of the states of the middle west is regarded as pivotal, and just now Illinois is more doubtful than Indiana, wihch used to have a large place in the thoughts of the administration builders. The Indiana managers have been grooming Fairbanks and Beveridge, but they would hardly oppose Cannon, who would want but a single term in the White House. To the man in the street it may seem like a far cry to 1908 and 1912; but it is neg to the man who holds cards in the great game of the presidency. Mc-Kinley's nomination was won years before the national convention; Roosevelt's nomination for a second term has the next president will begin to occupy the attention of his party on the day following his inauguration, and is likely to be pretty well settled before his term is half through. It is coming to pass that presidential candidates are called chiefly to ratify these conclu-

The time of its con-tinuance is dependent on the demand for cloth rather more than on the cot-ton market. For the moment the de-nand for cloth is better than it was a week ago. That there is bound to be large increase in the demand for goods seems to be agreed by brokers and others, but there is little hope that it will get beyond the extent of caring for two-thirds of the production, with the mills running in full. The prospects of the new cotton crop are being discussed daily now, and on them in a great measure will depend the prices that are likely to be offered when the

ANTIQUITY OF CIVILIZATION.

The March of Time From Flint Implements to Ivory Statuettes.

So far as the question of time is concerned it deserves notice that not merely geology, but almost every form of inquiry into the past, throws further back the limits usually assigned.

Egypt, for instance, is continually furnishing fresh proofs of the antiquity of civilization. Professor Flinders Petrie expounded at Owens college, Manchester, England, a few days ago the results of recent explorations at Abydos, in upper Egypt, from which it appears that the ruins at that one spot tell a continuous story that carries us back to 5000 B. C. Abydos was the first capital of Egypt and remained for forty-five centuries the religious center, the Canterbury of the land, and there the Egyptian Exploration fund has unearthed the remains of "ten successive temples, one over the other." From the age of the first temple  ${\mathfrak a}$ group of about 200 objects has been found, which throws surprising light on the civilization of the first dynasty. A part of a large glazed pottery vase of Mena, the first king of the first dynasty, about 4700 B. C., showed "that even then they were making glaze on a considerable scale, and also inlaying it with a second color. The ivory carving was astonishingly fine, a figure of a king showing a subtlety and power of expression as good as any work of later ages.'

At about 4000 B. C. an ivory statuette of Cheops, the builder of the great pyramid, was found, the only known portrait of him. Making every possible allowance for the marvelous rapidity of art development, must not many thousands of years have rolled over between the pristine dwellers in the Nile valley and the men who carved ivory statuettes and manufactured glazed work inlaid with second colors? It is a long, long march from flint implements to the solemn temple ivory statuettes and human portraits.—London Telegraph.

Diamonds.

The diamond, despite its high price, is not the most fashionable stone. The emerald enjoys that distinction, but the colored stone must have a few diamonds "to throw it up." "When I was a youngster," says a famous jeweler, "emeralds were $20 a carat. Today a fine stone is worth $2,000. A twenty grain pearl I used to sell at $400. Today it would be worth $3,000. Rubies and sapphires have gone up also, but not so much in proportion. During my long experience some stones have come in and gone out of favor, the cat's eye, for example. Settings are lighter than they used to be. The fashion is to set precious stones in platinum, as platinum never tarnishes. I don't think with platinum we get as much brilliancy out of the stone as with silver, but silver in foggy weather goes black. Never buy a diamond set in gold. If you see one in a gold mount, you may be suspicious. A yellow stone painted with black ink looks white, and it is then set in gold. That is the way in which many pawnbrokers have been

When an Oil Lamp Was a Curiosity. C. M. Shackelford, a Shelby county pioneer, was the first man to introduce oil in the county. Some time in the fifties he visited St. Louis and brought to Shelbyville two lamps and a couple of gallohs of oil.

When the citizens of the village learned of it, there was considerable excitement-much more than when the electric lights were turned on a few years ago. About 400 people gathered at the store to watch Mr. Shackelford take his life in his hands. He loaded up the lamp, turned the wick and prepared for illumination by fastening a paper lighted on the end of a stick. The crowd looked uneasy, but didn't run, and the new lighting works were an entire success. Oil cost $3 per gallon. Mr. Shackelford bought some to introduce the improvement among his fellow citizens, but he only disposed of a gallon the following year. - Clarence (Mo.) Courier.

New Jersey Penny of 1787.

Mr. J. P. Leib claims to have the oldest coin in Baltimore. It is a penny made in 1787 by the state of New Jersey. This was one year before Washington was made president of the country and five years before the United States penny was made. One side of the coin contains a shield and the motto "E Pluribus Unum," and on the other is a horse's head and a plow and the words "Nova Caesarea." Mr. Leib found the penny on the property of his grandfather, the late Christian Leib, who was a soldler in the Revolutionary war. The farm was in York county, Pa., and the coin was found near a still, together with a penny of 1800, sion.-Baltimore Sun.

An Unresponsive Mayor.

Already Mayor McClellan's fame has reached beyond the Alps where lies Italy. His honor some time ago received from a subject of King Victor Emmanuel a letter in which the writer explains that he is an adept at thought transference. He says that a thought has been wafted across the ocean informing him that the mayor would lend him 1,000 lire for a short time. Since then two more letters have arrived from the same correspondent. Colonel McClellan has figured it out that 1,000 lire is about $195, so he has done his best to transfer this thought to Italy, "Nothin' doin'."

the story of "The Pit" by Frank Norris, is the play made from the book for William A. Brady, in which Wilton Lackage is to appear at the Hollis street Theatre, Boston, at the head of a company of three hundred people, beginning newspaper testimony to the fact that it is the one big sensation of the season. Thoroughly American in every detail, a faithful picture of the great wheat market of the West and of American social customs and problems of today, the play makes an appeal, stronger perhaps than the dramatization of any romance that has yet been given to the stage. In the role of Cartis Jadwin, Wilton Lackaye, who has appeared with distinction in so many parts, has found his greatest and best opportunity. Manager Brady has staged the play magnificiently and has surrounded Mr. Lackage with an extraordinary cast. It is claimed for the production that it is the largest ever seen on the stage, with the single exception of the passion play at Ober plained in his plan of the Triology, is the ficticious narrative of a ' deal" in the Chicago wheat pit. It was his design to illustrate the folly of attempting to corner wheat, and to suggest the immorality of it; incidentially to show that the passion for speculation may become so absorbing as to alienate the love of a devoted woman. In "The Pit," the wife of Curtis Jadwin, the Napoleon of the Board of Trade, who buys and sells millions of bushels of wheat, near the brink of infidelity at times. The play revolves around these two characters.

The country fete in Contrary Mary's garden enables four score of the daintiest, merriest and prettiest "show girls" to display their charms. The Spiders' Forest, infested by bears and all manner of curious creeping and flying things, has just the right quality of sombre mystery. The scene on the garden wall, with its array of fetching embodiments of Mother Goose personages, is a veritable novelty. The Floral Mt. Ararat Road. The story of the play deals with scenes and incidents in Paris, during the Napoleonic era, and the plot is cleverly contrived in Pirel Block, corner of Franklin and Napoleonic era, and the plot is cleverly contrived to afford an opportunity for a dual personality, the character of Victor Ambrose a high minded soldier and impassioned lover, and Rabat, an unscrupulous devil-may-care ruffian, being taken by a single artist. The play is an example of the ment. romantic French school and offers many chances for good dramatic work by the leading members of the Castle Square stock company. The second eleven of the Quincy Football club will play a return game with the South street Wonders on Wednesday evening at Ward Three playground. The last game which was played between these teams resulted in a win for the Wonders by a score of 1 to 0. Both teams have been training hard for the game to be played Wednesday evening, and as the Quincys vow that their previous defeat shall be wiped out, and the Wonders assert that when the game is finished they shall be a few goals ahead, the game is sure to be good from the spectators point of view. Play will start at 6 o'clock and every one interested in association football should endeavor to see this game. Both teams are almost entirely composed of players who have been taught the game n this country and they have studied their lessons well. GOOD AFTERNOON.

Will the Mayor veto the third street watering order?

The Councilmen are pretty evenly divided on how to relieve the High school, if the vote in the City Council this week is any index. The enlargement order was tabled by a vote of 11

It has been discovered in Baltimore that the last winter in that city was the coldest in 87 years. It was also the hottest ever known in its history; at least it had the biggest fire.

No matter what happens some people are always happy. A clergy in Bridgeport, Conn., recently said to his congregation that he was glad he was so sorry to leave them. A Philadelphia paper says there is no reason to regret the loss of the surplus in the Treasury as it is really a gain.

Drift of Opinion.

"Enjoy yourself while you can,' said the late Bill Nye, "for you will be dead a long time." Optimism is life. The man who scowls at his fate habitually, who is forever drawing about him a shroud of gloom is slowly but surely killing himself. Without the sunshine, the flowers leads a pale and sickly life. Neither will human kind blossom and gladden itself and its out and is now in the Sea of Japan tryfellows without looking upon the brightness of things. Therefore: It is Home - Made CANDY your duty to cultivate a cheerful outlook, a duty you owe first of all to yourself, and second, to others .-

> Rich men whose accumulations are the result of their own labors rarely live to enjoy their wealth, or if they live they are in such poor health that enjoyment is out of the question. Rockefeller, the wealthiest man in the world, is a dyspeptic and physically miserable, and Senator Clark, the Montana multi-millionaire, who is at the head of the copper interests, is in constant fear that he has pulmonary tuberculosis and has gone to Europe to consult the specialists of Berlin and Milan. His chair was vacant for a portion of the session, and so was Senator Quay's, another well-to-do 8000 men for three months only. member of the upper branch of congress. By the above it is plainly proven that money does not constitute everything in this world. It's only a part, and while the spot cash is a very welcome visitor, it is not the whole push by any manner of means. Good health, a clear conscience, the love and respect of our fellow citizens, the inward consciousness that we are of some use in the world are among the things that mere money cannot control. Oftentimes wealth in the hands of those who are bound up in money, whose greed overtops all other characteristics, proves a curse instead of a blessing. -Gloucester

Once Away From Mountainous Country, However, Chances Will Be In Their Favor--Chinese Decline to Obey Order to Evacuate Mukden -- Correspondents Send Usual Rumors

London, May 10 .- In the absence of further stirring news from the seat of war the London newspapers are discussing the probable course of events. The balance of opinion inclines to the belief that General Kuroki will succeed in overtaking the Russians between Feng Wang Cheng and Liao Yang and will compel them to fight at a disadvantage.

It is argued that it will be impossible for General Kuropatkin, depending upon a slender line of railway and with his army encumbered with baggage, to make his retirement speedy enough to enable him to choose his ground for battle. On the other hand, it is argued that, apart from General Zassalitch's incidental error in giving battle on the Yalu against the orders of Kuropatkin, the latter's plan remains unchanged, and that once away from the mountainous country he will have much in his Dispatches from Shanghai say that the Tartar general at Mukden has de clined to obey Viceroy Alexieff's order that the Chinese evacuate Mukden. The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says that 15,000 Russians are retiring from New Chwang to Liao Yang.

The inhabitants of the isthmian Wm. St. Pierre, Prop. canal zone are entitled to security in their persons, property and religion, and in all their private rights and relations. They should be so informed by public announcement. The people should be disturbed as little as possible in their customs and avocations that are in harmony with principles of well ordered and decent living. The municipal laws of the canal zone are to be administered by the ordinary tribunals substantially as they were before the change. Police magistrates HAIR MATTRESSES made over and and justices of the peace and other officers discharging duties usually devolving upon these officers of the law will be continued in office if they are suitable persons.

The laws of the land, with which the inhabitants are familiar and which were in force on Feb. 26, 1904, will continue in force in the canal zone and in other places on the isthmus over which the United States has jurisdiction until altered or annulled by the commission, but there are certain great principles of government which have been made the basis of an existence as a nation which we deem essential to the rule of law and the maintenance of order and which shall have force in said zone.

The principles referred to are generally along the lines of those in force in the United States.

The commission may legislate on all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the laws and treaties of the United States so far as they apply to said zone and other places. The president urges the adoption of approved and effective methods for the improvement of health conditions on the isthmus, as was done in Cuba and Porto Rico.

The president directs that every possible effort be made to protect our offitropical and other diseases which in the given. past have been so prevalent and destructive in Panama.

General George W. Davis, the army member of the commission, is appointed governor of the American zone on the isthmus. Until the expiration of the Fifty-Eighth congress the isthmian authority over the American strip.

A PALACE OF ICE.

Cavern In Hungary That Is One of the Marvels of Europe. The ice cavern near Dobschau, Hungary, is one of the most remarkable but least known marvels of Europe. Though spoken of as a cavern, in reali ty it is an ice palace, the roof, floor and walls being of ice, sometimes opaque, sometimes as diaphanous as glass. The beautiful forms. Pillars, vases, grottoes, couches and waterfalls meet the ey at every turn.

Herr Ruffiny has the honor of being its discoverer. One day while shooting among the hills he was startled by the peculiar echo of his gun, an echo which suggested the near presence of a vast cavity or hollow. After a long search he was rewarded by finding a small aperture in the hillside overgrown by bushes and trees. The next day he re turned, accompanied by two friends who lowered him by ropes into the space. As he swung into the darkness a bitter cold, which increased as he descended, was felt. At last he felt his feet touch the ground, and, looking around him, he found himself in a vast hall which he could but dimly see. The ice palace was discovered.

Falconry In Turkestan.

In a remote part of Turkestan Dr. Sven Hedin, the explorer, some years ago discovered the ancient art of falconry in full flower. "Among the horse men were eight falconers." he writes "two of whom carried eagles, the oth ers falcons, all duly hooded. In this part of the world falconers form an indispensable adjunct in any formal parade or procession. Later in the day they gave us an exhibition of their birds' powers by letting them kill four hares and a deer, all of which were presented to me."

NEW MUSIC FOR WORLD'S FAIR

Three Compositions by Famous People Band Tournament.

Musical people and all who appreciate good music may thank the World's Fair for three notable compositions written upon the invitation of the Exposition management. These are the "Hymn of the West," by the most distinguished living American poet, Edmund Clarence Stedman, the music What It Pays for which was written by Professor John K. Paine, who is at the head of the music department of Harvard university; "Louisiana," a march by Frank Vanderstuken, leader of the Cincinnati Orchestra; a waltz, "Along the Plaza," by Henry K. Hadley of New York, who has won his laurels long before this as writer of operatic and other musical compositions. This music will be heard publicly for the first time upon the opening of the Exposition on Saturday, April 30, and fre quently thereafter in the musical programmes of the greatest of world's fairs. These are the only official compositions. Thirty thousand dollars will be given in prizes for the best bands at a tournament to be held during the Exposition. All through the World's Fair the musical feature will be prominent. The most famous bands of the world are under contract to participate during considerable periods. Among these are Le Garde Republicaine band of France, the Royal Grenadier band of England, the American National band, Sousa's band and others.

Bemis for Congress.

The recent signs which have begun to show in the 12th congressional disdistrict contest says Practical Politics, that Senator Bemis is steadily gathering strength is something which every one should be interested in. This contest was started in an unfortunate tone. Ex-Mayor Weeks of Newton, of course, never hinted anything of the sort, for he isn't that type of man, being really of congressional calibre and worthy of the honor, if it does come his way, but certain of his supporters reasoned mountains. This suit had blood it out that, taking two men, one worth stains on it. Wentz, it is said, was millions and the other thousands, there could only be one result, namely, that the millionaire would win.

Had the majority of the voters of the district belonged to the millionaire class, that line of argument might have gone through without doing any harm, but the 12th was a bad one to spring it in. Sprague, who represented the district before Powers, was a millionaire, it is true, but when he went after the congressional nomination, he dwelt upon his steady service in the legislature as the chief reason for his promotion. Furthermore, Congressman Powers, who has a few dollars above his ordinary expenses, found it abso lutely necessary, before he could make real progress, to talk plainly to the voters and to inform them that he was Batistes, Lawns, Linens. was still in the workingman class.

That is why the money argument, as raised about Mayor Weeks, was in poor taste and still poorer judgment. The majority of the voters in this district are not rich men, and appreciate the struggle of the man with moderate means, so they have been turning towards Bemis. The regular republicans have also found in Bemis many things to be pleased with. His loyalty to the organization, at the state house, has won him many friends, and they are going to stand by him. The fight is far from won, but there are plenty of indications that Bemis is up and doing, and in a way which promises to make his candidacy popular with a great many people.

This attempt at bribery was brought into court, and Lord De La Warr escaped punishment, but with the dishonesty of his relations with the Hooley companies firmly established. Shortly after the death in Bellevue hospital, New York, of Adolphus Drucker of London, who had been a member of parliament for Northampton from 1892 to 1900, it became known that his life was insured for about $1,-000,000 and that one of the policies, for Fall River ...... 1 $500,000, was in favor of Mrs. Ernest Terah Hooley. The late Mr. Drucker was named with the many prominent people, including 69 members of the house of lords, who figured in connection with the 190 companies which were connected with the Hooley flotations.

Hooley, in 1898, was the biggest comany promoter in Great Britain. He was prominently interested in bicycle, land and meat-extract concerns, and was supposed to be a multi-millionaire. He reached the pinnacle of his prominence in 1896, when he promoted a tire company, as the result of which he was supposed to have cleared $12,500,-000. Hooley at that time was living a sort of Count of Monte Cristo existence, buying yachts and racehorses and a number of historic county seats. In January, 1898, he purchased the racing cutter Britannia (then owned by John Lawson Johnstone, and formerly the property of the then Prince of Wales, now King Edward, who later repurchased the yacht). In 1896 Hooley, who was a member of a number of prominent yacht clubs, purchased the schooner yacht Verona from the Earl of Lonsdale. The announcement of the bankruptcy proceedings against Hooley caused a great sensation in London; though in the best informed quarters his failure had been expected for some time, owing to his inability to float a large Chinese loan. Eventually Hooley was formally adjudged a bankrupt. The capitals of the companies promoted by 000 to $65,000,000. Hooley came from a family of Nottingham lace manufacturers. When he was 22 years of age his mother left him $175,000, whereupon he started in business as a stock broker in Nottingham, and for some time, according to a statement made by Hooley, stock broker he got into touch with a large connection of very rich people and secured their confidence. Mr. Preston emphasized the statement that as the visit appears to be purely one from an educational standpoint it is his opinion that the expenses of the visit should rest entirely on the Filipino government. He stated that it is true that in 1897 the Chamber of Commerce paid the expenses of bringing to Boston and entertaining the so called Pan-American delegates, but he looked upon their visit as of an en tirely different character. Their visit he regarded as purely a commercial visit, as was also that of the Porto Rican delegates four years ago when the latter were also entertained by the chamber.

Objective Point of Japanese Army In Manchuria

THE CITY IS DISMANTLED

Its Occupation by the Enemy Would Give Japan Ultimate -- Cutting Off of Communication With Port Arthur the Question of but a Short Time

St. Petersburg, May 12.-Impending events of great importance to the military situation in Manchuria are foreshadowed in official dispatches given out late last night by the war com-

Such incidents as these can only lead, it is stated, to Kuropatkin taking determined measures. He cannot have the enemy within, as well as outside, the lines.

About the Yalu Battle

London, May 12.-The Daily Mail's correspondent at the Japanese headquarters in describing the battle on the Yalu testifies that the Russian position there, if properly held, ought to have been impregnable, even with the sacrifice of 10,000 men. The correspondent says that the battlefield afterbut that the wounded bore their sufferings with the most heroic stoicism.

"The Japanese are showing the greatest kindness to the wounded prisoners and the captured Russian officers are being treated by the highest among the Japanese as respected guests. In the hour of victory the Japanese soldiers show admirable restraint and sobriety of demeanor. They express open admiration for the courage and determination of the Russians, whom they have found to be utterly unlike the Chinese, and who are, they

Crown Prince Wins New Laurels Berlin, May 12.-Crown Prince Frederick William shared the emperor's prize at the Potsdam Equestrian society's contests with Captain Von Holtzing. The competitors had to pass a hedge, then a hedge and a ditch four yards wide, then another hedge and finally a high barricade in rapid succession. Only the crown prince and VonHoltzing succeeded in the effort. The emperor not long ago required the crown prince to keep to his quarters for a week for reckless riding. The young man renounced his share in the trophy in favor of VonHoltzing.

The Story of a Crest. There is a curious tradition concerning the almost miraculous preservation of the life of the first Earl of Kildare, which explains the origin of the crest used by the Offaly Geraldines. While an infant, so the record runs, he was in the castle of Woodstock when an alarm of fire was raised. In the confusion that ensued the child was forgotten, and on the servants running to search for him the room in which he lay was found in ruins. Soon after a strange voice was heard in one of the towers, and on looking up they saw an ape, which was usually kept chained, carefully holding the child in his arms. The earl afterward, in gratitude for his preservation, adopted a monkey for his crest .- London News.

Father and Brother Express the Opinion That Murder Was Committed and Detectives Will Continue to Work on Case

Bristol, Tenn., May 12.-"He came to his death by the accidental discharge of his own pistol" is the verdict of the coroner's jury which for nearly two days had been investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Edward L. The inquest, which was adjourned dark Tuesday, was resumed yester-Upon the arrival of the coroner and his jury fully 200 people surrounded the still roped-in space from which the body had been removed. The first step taken was a search in a nearby groundhog's hole for the missing right hand of the dead man, believed to have been carried away by some animal. The dirt was dug away to the end of the hole and sifted through a screen in search for the missing bones and the ring worn on one of the fingers. This was | time. without result. The jury then filed in to the roped enclosure and was seated in a line upon the log against which Wentz's head had rested. The coroner's secretary occupied a seat upon a stone, while large stumps furnished seats for the two presiding coroners.

He said: "My son did not commit suicide. He had no reason whatever for doing such a thing. Some people would like to show that he did so in order to clear themselves of his murder, but their 6.50 plan will not work. Edward did not have a revolver with him when he disappeared. "I think it has been the experience of nearly every man who has traveled any to meet with numerous people who will take him for some one else. At least a dozen times in my career has this occurred. This has been in broad daylight, on the street or some public place where with clear vision and unhampered thought a man does not know if I am-myself or some one else. Change the conditions-sunshine for darkness, an ordinary street scene for one of crime, perhaps murder, with its attendant excitement and mind disturbance, and say if it be possible for a man who has caught perhaps one moment's view of the fleeing criminal to go into the witness stand and 'identify' the man. Suppose we were to advertise for three or four men bearing a close resemblance to the prisoner (and they would not be very hard to find in a city of this size), dress them exactly like the accused and let them mingle and intermingle among themselves, and it is almost a foregone conclusion that the best witness in the court will be so puzzled he cannot tell one from anoth er."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Russian Plan to Embarrass Japanese Use of Port able Japanese Investment of Russia's Chief Commercial Emporium of Its Eastern Dominions--Evidence That Russian Communication With Port Arthur Is Effectually Cut Off

London, May 13.—The splendid city of Port Dalny has been left in ruins by the Russians to prevent it from fall- Last night she became violently insane ing into the hands of the Japanese forces. The wharves, piers, warehouses and public buildings have been all blown up. The reports of the explosion during the past two days could be heard for miles.

The Japanese were near enough to threaten to seize the place. They are also placing siege guns in position to attack Port Arthur.

Many skirmishes are reported in southern Manchuria, and a big battle is expected any moment at Liao Yang. Tokio denies officially that the railroad line to Port Arthur has been restored and is now running under charge of Russians. Viceroy Alexieff reported that the line was running and that passengers from Port Arthur had reached Liao Yang. As all the bridges between Pulantien and Wafantien, a distance of 20 miles, were destroyed by the Japanese, the rapid reconstruction and restoration of traffic in the face of a hostile army has been a mystery for several

The trainload of munitions of war which the Russians claim to have sent into Port Arthur undoubtedly ran through after the Japanese had landed, but before the line was closed ROBERT SVEDEMAN, by the destruction of the bridges.

Port Dalny, on Talienway bay, on the east coast of the Liao Tung peninsula, was intended by Russia to be the chief commercial emporium of its eastern TOM WATTERSON, dominions. An edict providing for its construction was issued by the Russian emperor July 30, 1899, and Port Dalny, fully equipped with all modern improvements, docks, warehouses and railroad facilities, was opened to commerce in December, 1901.

Talienwan bay is one of the finest deep water harbors on the Pacific. It s free from ice in winter time, and ships drawing 30 feet of water can enter at low tide without difficulty and without the aid of pilots can sail or ers, when their cargoes can be loaded | Dandelions, into railroad cars and run direct for 6000 miles into the city of St. Peters- Spinach.

Five large piers had been constructed. each supplied with numerous railroad tracks and immense warehouses and elevators, gas, electric lights and water, and a large breakwater was being con structed so that ships could lie at the Roll Roast. piers and load and unload, regardless of weather. Docks for foreign vessels, steam and sail, extended between the piers and along the shore for two miles. Over $6,000,000 had been expended on the harbor system before the end of 1902, and it was estimated that the cost of completing the works would be nearly $20,000,000, but this does not in any way represent the total cost of the erection of this great commercial port, which, with Port Arthur, distant about 20 miles, was leased by the Chinese government to Russia in 1898. Dalny is the southern terminus of the Chinese eastern railroad and the headquarters of the company. Nearly 25,000 men were employed daily on the work of constructing the port and town The total population has been estimated at about 60,000, mostly Chinese Japanese, Koreans and Russians. Japan has hitherto furnished the bulk of the coal imported at Port Dalny, Russia the cement and kerosene, Korea and the United States the timber and the United States the flour. It has been reported recently, however, that the new Russian mills at Harbin would soon be in a position to compete strongly with the United States for the flour trade. Provisions for Port Dalny were obtained prinpally from Shanghai and other points Notary Public in the far east.

WILL CONTESTED Relatives Object.

In the supreme court before Judge Braley there is on trial an appeal from the decree of the probate court allowing the will of Harriet Bayley of Dorchester, and the appointment of W. O. Parker of Wollaston as executor, on the ground that at the time the instrument was executed, the testatrix was of unsound mind and was unduly influenced.

The Boston Advertiser says; the will, which is dated Sept. 30, 1902, after providing for the payment of the debts and the payment of the debts and funeral expenses bequeths "to my faithful friend, W. O. Parker, whom I have known for many years, and who has been like a good son to me, and who now resides in that part of Quincy, called Wollaston, County of Norfolk state of Mass., all my property of every kind whatever and wherever situated, including my real estate located in that part of Boston, known as Dorchester. "In making this will, I am not unmindful of the fact that I have four nieces, daughters of my sister, two of whom reside in Rockland, state of Maine, and two of whom reside in Quincy, but I do not wish to give, devise, or bequeath any of my property to these nieces, or either or any of them, or to any other relatives, if I have any still living.

"I hereby nominate and appoint the said W. O. Parker, named herein, as sole legatee, to be the executor of this, my last will and testament, and I direct that he shall be exempt from furnishing surety or sureties on his official bond." The contestants were Medora Perkins, Alwilda Martin, Elvira Hopper, and Florence Young, nieces of the testatrix. Harriet Bayley left an estate of about $7000, accumulated in a business which she carried on in a little store on Washington street, in Dorchester.

Body of Missing Child Found In Chimney of Her Home

WAS POSSIBLE ACCIDENT

Unknown Woman Had Called Twice at the House and Suggested Where Body Would Be Found--Police Investigating

New York, May 13.-The body of Josephine McCahill, 6 years old, who New York ...... 0 9 has been missing since May 2, was found last night in a chimney at her home in Third avenue, this city. The body was lodged near the top of the himney, and it was necessary to tear way part of the masonry to release it. It was believed that the child had been kidnapped and the case had aroused much interest. Rewards aggregating $3850 have been offered by various persons for her recovery, in case it should be discovered that she had been kidnapped, and mass meetings have been held to consider plans for conducting the search.

Yesterday a letter was received by Mrs. McCahill, the child's mother, which read:

"Dear friend: As you made such a fuss I was compelled to kill Josie. If you give $500 to a boy I will send, you can have the body. H. M. P. S. Don't mind stories you hear.'

The police considered this letter as the work of some heartless meddler. After leaving her home on May 2 to play in the street, the child was seen in Third avenue with a man described as tall and dark. She had a bag of candy in her hand, but was crying. on. Their search has proceeded on the belief that the man was an Italian and that the girl would eventually be found in one of the Italian colonies in this

SPANISH NAMES.

.632 How They Came to Be So Freely Scattered Over California.

It was the custom of the old Spanish explorers to name places after the saint for whom was named the day on which they camped there. In this .105 manner a great number of melodious and sonorous Spanish names have been scattered over California, so that the names of a great number of places o begin either with "San" or "Santa." 1 In some cases a subtitle, as it were, Batteries, Taylor and Grady; Willis, has been affixed. For instance, we have San Luis Rey and San Luis Obis-R. H. E. po (Saint Louis the King and Saint Louis the Bishop), also San Juan Ca-2 pistrano. In the case of Los Angeles, Batteries, Phillippi and Phelps; Cro- it was named "Nuestra Senora de los Angeles" (Our Lady of the Angels). This name is altogether too bulky for 1 frequent use, so the early officers shortened it to "Angeles."

One curious name among the saints is that applied to a picturesque little settlement on the divide between the 5 San Gabriel and Pomona valleys-San Dimas. San Dimas, be known, was Batteries, Harper and Schlei; Mat- one of the two men who were crucified asked to be remembered by the Lord when he should enter into paradise. .750 He is the patron saint of robbers. The way this name came to be given to the San Gabriel valley village was thus: In early days a gang of Mexican horse thieves had their "lair" in a canyon there, which was subsequently referred to as the Robbers' canyon or the canyon of San Dimas. When the Santa Fe railroad came along and laid out the station there the name of E. the canyon was adopted; hence San 2 Dimas.-Los Angeles Times.

Frederick the Great, being informed of the death of one of his chaplains, a man of considerable learning and piety, determined to select a successor with the same qualifications and took the following method of ascertaining the merit of one of the numerous candidates for the appointment: He told the applicant that he would furnish him with a text the lonowing day, when he was to preach at the royal chapel. The morning came, and

The king arrived at the end of the prayers, and on the candidate ascending the pulpit he was presented with a sealed paper by one of his majesty's aids-de-camp. The preacher opened it and found nothing written. He did not, however, lose his presence of mind, but, turning the paper, on both sides, he said: "My brethren, here is nothing, and there is nothing. Out of nothing God created all things." And he proceeded to deliver a most eloquent discourse on the wonders of the creation.

COWS TRAINED FOR THE TEST

McGrath, a policeman of this city, was Jerseys at the World's Fair Are Expected to Show That They Are Superior to All Other Breeds.

> The herd of Jersey cows assembled it the World's Fair at St. Louis to represent the Jersey breed in the universal airy test has been inspected and has een pronounced in perfect condition and ready to start upon their six nonths' grind on a day's notice.

> W. R. Spann of the Burr Oak Jersey farm, Dallas, Tex., was the inspector, nd he was thorough in his work. He passed a week on the Exposition grounds, and much of the time was spent in and around the Jersey cattle barn, and the condition of each indiridual of the herd of forty cows was efinitely ascertained.

> Never was more intelligent and care-'ul treatment lavished on animals. No thiete was ever better trained for a ontest requiring the development of speed, skill and endurance than has been this herd of Jerseys. When it is known that this herd is to compete with selected herds of Holsteins, Shorthorns, Brown Swiss and Devons, and the herd making the best score for the production of butter, milk and cheese s to establish the standing of the various breeds, the importance of the cows being in perfect condition may > e understood. For a solid year the Jerseys have been in constant training. Twentytest. Cows were selected from the best herds in the United States.

Dr. J. J. Richardson, president of der whose auspices this entry is made. Isle of Jersey, where the breed origibut returned satisfied that Europe could show no cows that were better than those bred in America.

Though only twenty-five cows will participate in the test, forty cows were selected. They were assembled at Jerseyville, Ill., a year ago. This is near St. Louis, and the cattle have beome acclimated. Last December they were removed to St. Louis. The cows are the property of individual members of the club and are loaned for the term of the test. C. T. Graves, a breeder at Maitland, Mo., was selected as the uperintendent to have charge of the attle, and he has been highly comolimented by Dr. Richardson and Inspector Spann for the wonderfully fine condition in which he has placed the

A series of model dairy barns have been built for the breeds competing in the test. The barns are octagonal in form, and are so arranged that the cows are in the center and a wide promenade permits visitors to pass around and view the cows as they stand in their stalls. The milking and feeding are to be done in plain view of the public, and representatives of the various herds will at all times have access to all the barns to see that no sharp practices

The test not only co nsists in show ing the amount of butter, milk and cheese produced, but the cost of production is taken into consideration. Every ounce of food given each cow is weighed and carefully recorded. When the cows are milked, the milk is conveyed to a model creamery in the Agricultural building, where it is tested and made into butter and cheese and where all records are carefully kept. The Jersey cattle participated in a similar test at Chicago during the Columbian Exposition and carried off

Superintendent Graves is sanguine over the result of the present test. He says that the Jerseys have always demonstrated their superiority over all other breeds when placed in competition, and this time they will show to better advantage than ever. Not only is the Jersey milk richer in butter fat than the milk of any other breed, says Mr. Graves, but it can be produced at a less cost. The Jersey cows are the smallest of the standard breeds, and he asserts that they consume less feed. They assimilate their food, and it is converted into milk and butter and is not used in building up and sustaining a large carcass. "We are going to make all other breeds take to the woods after this test," said Mr. Graves. "A few days ago I was testing some of our Jersey milk, and my hands were all sticky and greasy from the enormous amount of butter fat the milk contained. Mr. Von Heyne, who is in charge of the Holsteins, sent over a quantity of his milk for me to test. Of course, from a commercial standpoint, there was no comparison between the milk, but it was a pleasure to test his milk, for when I got through there was no grease on my hands. After this I will have a bucket of Holstein milk around handy to wash my hands in after testing our own rich Jersey milk." The test begins May 16 and continues 120 days.

CAMPAIGN PLANS

Odell Would Rather Beat Man Like Bryan Than Parker

WILL BE CLEAN CONTEST

Governor Says Judge Will Be Democratic Nominee and That Cannon Will Be Named by Republicans For Vice President

New York, May 14.-Governor Odell has come to the conclusion that Alton P. Parker will be the Democratic candidate for president. He said at the Fifth Avenue hotel:

"The action of the Connecticut and Indiana conventions in instructing for Parker seems to settle the question. It looks now as if Parker will certainly be nominated, and we might as well make our plans for the campaign accordingly. I would rather beat a man like Bryan; we will beat Parker, too; but it will not be quite so easy. I don't mind saying, however, that it is a good sign for the country when parties come to nominating their best men for the presidency. I would rather go into a clean campaign, like that which is in sight, than with a mud-slinging

The governor said that he will call a meeting of the Republican state committee for some day next week. At this meeting the new executive committee will be announced, and plans will be formed for the preliminary work for the campaign. Then the governor will settle down at state headquarters. Referring to the necessity of beginning work at once, he said: "I believe in all-the-year-around politics. I intend to put the state committee to work before the national convention and get things into shape so that whatever candidates are nominated, we can begin effective operations at once."

The governor was pleased with the commendations which have been showered upon him since he vetoed the Remsen East River gas grab. The memorandum accompanying his veto will be the first campaign document to be sent out from Republican state headquarters.

Odell thinks that Speaker Cannon will be the Republican candidate for vice president. He has not committed himself to the speaker or anybody else, but it is his idea that the Republican convention will get into an enthusiastic mood when Roosevelt is nominated and will insist that Cannon take the second place on the ticket. The governor would like to see Cornelius N. Bliss at the head of the Republican national committee, but he does not believe that Bliss can be induced to accept. He thinks that Bliss will retain the position of treasurer of the committee.

Colonel Guffey, Pennsylvania's member of the Democratic national committee, is in the city. He said that it looks as if Parker will be nominated. The two-thirds rule, he added, will not be abolished by the St. Louis convention Cuffer intimated that the Penn structed, will fall in line for Parker if the Parker boom progresses as it has been progressing in the last week.

Illinois Convention Deadlocked Springfield, Ills., May 14.-After a continuous session of more than 12 hours the Illinois Republican convention late last night took a recess without having named a candidate for governor. The new Federal movement was met by a counter attack upon Grant's right flank at Spottsylvania by the Confederate corps of General Ewell. With troops composed principally of Stonewall Jackson's former command, Ewell made a detour and struck the road to Fredericksburg, which was Grant's line of communication with his base. It happened that there were no Federal troops at the point attacked, except Tyler's brigade of heavy artillerists, a body of men just out of the fortifications of Washington, whose appearance at the front in "spick and span" uniforms had been greeted by the war worn soldiers with derisive chaff.

The loss of the Carolinians was next to the highest suffered in a southern regiment and that of the Pennsylvanians next to the highest among northern regiments.

> In Warren's fight at North Anna the famous "Mink's battery" performed one of its many gallant exploits. When Brown's Carolinians struck the right flank of Warren's line and sent it back in confusion Mink's pieces were moving to position on a knoll behind the Federal troops, facing the attack. The Confederate line arose from behind a ridge, fired one volley and then charged. Mink's stirring cry, "Forward into battery!" was quickly responded to. but the guns could not fire at the men in gray without sweeping down the Federals also.

Brown's column made a dash for the bridge behind Mink's guns. Only two sections of the battery were ready for action, those of Bates and Ritchie Bates suggested that the pieces be retreated, but Mink told him to hold on ankle, a reminiscence of the enemy's Had Ewell succeeded that day in shrapnel at Spottsylvania, and could cutting Grant's communications the not dismount, so he kept in saddle and Army of the Potomac would have been | not only directed his battery, but helpforced to turn back from its flank ed to rally the retreating infantry be-

> College professors, especially those who teach English, are wont to criticise the newspapers, says the Syracuse (N. Y.) Telegram. Why this is so it is hard to say, for the average newspaper is as warm a champion of higher education as can easily be found. College instructors who teach the students under them how to write essays look down upon the newspaper writers as inferior beings. The chances, are, however, that a very ordinary reporter could take a topic of every day life and make it fully as interesting and readable as the ordinary teacher of English in the ordinary university. The "themes" which are turned in by university students are rewritten many times and are the fruits of long and harrowing labor, but they are, nevertheless, horribly blue penciled by the professor. Even the impromptu writings of the instructors themselves sometimes show glaring errors. The chances are that any of these professors who take it upon themselves to criticize the English used in the newspapers would make a sorry showing if they were put into the rush and bustle of an editorial room. By the time an experienced reporter had his story written they would still be chewing their pencils, wondering what to say in the open-

Educational Conditions.

May 10, the Philergians met with Mrs. O. W. Allen, at Braintree Mr. Charles J. Lincoln, principal of Dorchester High school lectured on 'American Educational Conditions.' The enthusiasm which our people manifest in its support of our institutions of education, the money spentlavishly, if not extravagantly, and wastefully, when demanded for the support of schools, we have long accepted as the normal thing, and so to be expected. We have come to look upon education as our fundamental safeguard.

The old familiar questions but none the less important, of the influence of home life. The community, the state, and perhaps the playground were all ably treated by Mr. Lincoln. Dr. William Gallagher of Thayer academy gave amusing and interesting incidents of school life with an object lesson, showing the direct influence of Mr. Lincoln's lecture and the result, as beneficial to the Philergians. tablish Themselves In Southern Manchuria Before Rainy Season Arrives--Russian Mines Cause Destruction of Japanese Torpedo Boat

London, May 14.—It is impossible to identify many of the Russianized Chinese names given in the Russian staff accounts of the Japanese advance in Manchuria. General Kuroki's boldness in pushing on is commented on here as showing that he believes General Kuropatkin's forces are much weaker than they are represented.

The partial destruction of Dalny is regarded as showing that the Russians anticipate the Japanese will make a determined attempt to capture Port Arthur, while, owing to the moral effect of the fall of the stronghold would have on Russian prestige, an equally determined resistance will be made.

According to the latest advices the Japanese are pushing their campaign in southern Manchuria with the utmost energy in order thoroughly to establish themselves before the beginning of the rainy season, six weeks hence. The various divisions of Kuroki's army are advancing cautiously along routes which will place them in position to threaten Haicheng and New Chwang and Liao Yang and Mukden.

Just what progress is being made by the troops landed on the Liao Tung United States navy yard, District Atpeninsula is not exactly known, but it torney Beach has filed the answer of the Russian sources that men were landed on both sides. In northern Korea and ployment. The board had refused to on the Yalu the Japanese are making dispositions to protect their right flank and rear and on the extreme east of the theatre of war they have established a naval station at Port Lazaref, while their fleet is watching Vladivostok.

A dispatch from Seoul says that Japan's second army of 70,000 men sailed May 4 from Chinampo crowded onto 83 transports. Its destination, of course, is not stated, but the fact that the men were literally packed into the W. T. Moss, an attorney and brother of ships might indicate that they were not the mayor, and R. W. Perkins, one of haps than Takushan.

An explanation of why the Russians blew up Dalny just at this time is suggested by the dispatch from Tokio announcing the destruction of the Japanese torpedo boat No. 48 and the killing of seven of her crew and wounding of having lost his temper. seven others, while removing Russian mines from the entrance to Kerr bay. Kerr bay is just on the northeast side of a narrow peninsula which separates it from Talien bay, on the southwest shore of which lies Dalny.

With the Japanese feeling their way so close to the town the Russians evidently took time by the forelock and destroyed the place to prevent the enemy, who might seize it at any time | lured away and murdered by a strange by a quick dash, from utilizing the piers, | man and that her body was jammed docks and barracks which existed there. Incidentally it may be noted that this torpedo boat, if the transport sunk off Wonsan, Korea, be excepted, is the first warship lost by Japan since the opening of the war.

Whiskey and Beer Habit PERMANENTLY CURED BY "ORRINE,"

A SAFE, SURE AND HARMLESS SPECIFIC

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health. No "will power" can heal the inflamed stomach membranes. "ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary; "ORRINE can be taken at your own home without publicity. Can be given secretly if desired-

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE. .

The Castle Square Theatre managemennakes the interesting announcement that the dramatic version of the popular novel "Janice Meredith " will have its first production, at popular prices, next week at this theatre and arrangements have been made with Miss Blanche Stoddard to continue her engagement with the stock company and appear in the title part. The story proved admirably suited to stage presentation and the play has made one of the most successful productions in recent years. The title part, an American girl of the Colonial period, is one well calculated to afford Miss Stoddard excellent opportunities for her dramatic skill and intelligence which will surely be improved to the utmost by this artist. The original stage settings will be reproduced and all the essential features of the New York performances of the play will be show in the Castle Square presentation. The cast of leading characters will be as follows: Charles Fownes, Howell Hansell; Philemon Hennion, Mace Greenleaf; Lord Clowes, John Sainpolis; Lieut. Mowbray, Lindsay Morrison; Squire Meredith, Edward Wade; Squire Hennion, John T. Craven; Colonel Rahl, John F. Webber; Lieut. Piel, Louis Thiel; Janice Meredith, Blanche Stoddard; Tabitha Drinkwater, Mary Sanders; Mrs. Meredith, Gertrude Berkley; Sukey, Mabel Colcord. "Janice Meredith" is announced for only a single week and the usual distribution of boxes of choice chocolate bon bons will be made at the Monday matinee.

DEADLOCK STILL ON

Three-Cornered Contest For Governorship of Illinois

PRICES BIG FACTIONS FIGHTING

A Life and Death Struggle, With to Combine to Exert Powers, Although They Hold Whip

Springfield, Ills., May 16.-After another day of fruitless balloting the most remarkable Republican state convention in the history of Illinois adjourned afternoon without having broken the gubernatorial deadlock. The delegates have taken things into their own hands and with practical unanimity decline to be delivered by men at the head of the organization. The scenes attending the convention were similar to those of the previous $6.75 were similar to those of the same of day and the demonstrations in favor of the various candidates were calculated to sweep a less deliberative gathering rom its feet, but with every outburst the determination among the delegates to resist anything in the way of a stampede became more pronounced. Old-time politicians are comparing the convention with the national convention in 1880 which nominated Garfield. In the balloting the comparison is apt, but the influences which finally swayed that great gathering are not present. This is a life and death truggle between two great factions in Cook county, headed respectively by Congressman Lorimer and State Attorney Deneen, with the country deleoyal to the interests of their favorite sons that they will not combine to ex-

8.00 ert their powers. Indications point towards another lay of fruitless balloting before the gubernatorial deadlock is broken. It is quite possible that a break will come this afternoon, but the develop-den and Deneen. The contest for a Republican guberatorial nomination in Illinois assumes proportions which no eastern state can pproach. The governor is chosen for four-year term and on the presidential ballot. Electors and state ticket so regularly meet the same fortunes at the polls that the action of the state convention, since Illinois is a Republican state, is usually decisive. Vast interests, commercial and political, are involved in the choice of a governor. There is the state machine and the Cook county machine, and the federal patronage, like wheels within wheels, for all of which the several candidates have many months been striving and bargaining. Mr. Cullom's seat in the senate is also regarded as one of the assets of a successful combination, and nearly every gubernatorial candidacy has traded its influence in this particular long in advance in return for ome support in the state fight.

Won't Dodge Nomination

Washington, May 16.-Congressman Robert R. Hitt of Illinois will gladly accept the Republican vice presidential omination, if tendered to him. In referring to this matter, Hitt said:

"I am willing to accept the Republian nomination for vice president if it is tendered to me, and have so advised my friends. The convention now in ession has endorsed me. That is the whole story, and there is nothing more or me to say." Mr. Hitt for many years has been willing to receive promotion from the party. He has not been active in pushinng his own advancement, but was unxious to step higher if his associates desired it. He would have liked the senatorship, both when Mason was elected and when Hopkins was chosen as his successor, six years later. He considered that his transfer to the senate would be a promotion politically. He regards the proposed vice presidential nomination in precisely the same light.

Will Support St Louis Nominee Washington, May 16.-W. R. Hearst will support the nominee of the St. Louis Democratic convention, whoever he may be. He has authorized the Washington Post to make this statement unequivocally. He said he had been making his fight for the nomination in the name of progressive Denocracy, but his fight had been within party lines and would continue to be so. Whatever the result, he intended personally and through his ne papers to support the regular ticke

Berlin, May 16.—The newspapers of all parties have suddenly begun vieing with one another in praise of Japanese military genius and prophecies of the continued defeat of the Russians. Several morning journals openly declare that the Russian cause is lost, one intimating that Russia will prefer to make an attempt to recover her prestige in another sphere-evidently meaning southern Asia-rather than to continue the struggle in Manchuria indefinitely. This change of tone pervades not only the military criticisms, but the political leaders likewise.

Dramatic Sequel to Retirement Paris, May 16.-General Rebillot, a leading figure in the French army and a friend of Colonel Marchand, whose resignation from the army was accepted last Friday, says the latter probably will offer his sword and services to Russia. Marchand's arrest for pubgates holding the whip hand, but so licly criticising the war office and the summary acceptance of his resignation are causing a sensation similar to that when Dreyfus was stripped of his uniform. ## NURSING MOTHERS

"A richer milk than milk" is good food for nursing mothers. Scott's Emulsion is the rich cream of cod liver oil, and contains ten times as much cream as milk does.

The nursing mother must eat with the purpose of producing good, nourishing milk for her baby. A little Scott's addition to her daily diet. If through nervousness or weakness her milk is a failure, Scott's Emulsion will help make it a success.

The baby gets the benefit, too, when the mother takes Scott's Emulsion. The same remedy brings new strength and nourishment to both.

Make a mind bet—be a sport— You will find it as productive. Maybe, as the other sort.

Often when you place your money On a very likely horse, Leisurely he comes home sailing Back at fifth place on the course; But if all your heavy betting When the winning horse you chose In your mind is done you never Stand the slightest chance to lose.

Looking at the prancing horses You can pick out one and say, "In my mind I bet a thousand On the nimble little bay." Ten to one he is a winner, Scoring, then the race is o'er.

That's the reason it is better With yourself your bets to place. Then you do not miss the money Every time you lose a race, And it does not call for walking If your horse comes out behind. If he wins for you a thousand

Generous Bequests.

Three worthy objects in Fitchburg will benefit largely by the will of Sylvania L. Coggshall of Fitchburg, just filed in probate. The city is given $24,500, the income of which is to be used in caring for the Mt. Elan property. This property was given to the city by Mrs. Coggshall and her husband.

The will also sets aside $10,000 for the Y. M. C. A. of Eitchburg, and a aibo, from San Juan, has on board the like sum for Fitchburg home for old ladies.

Massachusetts uses in her institutions the Eddy Refrigerators. The United States uses in her Navy the Eddy Refrigerators. WHY?

They consume less ice. They preserve the interior dry and cool. They maintain an even temperature. They can be easily cleaned. They generate no smell, no mould, no dampness. Political considerations suspended the movement after it had got well under way. The incentive to unlawful collusion in stamp sales would always be done away with under such consolidation, so that a reform which was halted on political grounds may have to be revived on grounds of dollars and cents. It is possible that the postmaster general's report next fall may have something to say on this subject.

SEVEN IN THE FIELD Illinois Republicans Have Many

Rollcalls Without Result Springfield, Ills., May 17.-With the deadlock unbroken and with little prospect of a compromise on a candidate for governor, the Illinois Republican convention took a recess last evening until today, having taken five ballots yesterday. The recess followed the 29th rollcall, the result of which showed same strength he had when he entered the convention. The 29th ballot gave the following results: Governor Richard Yates, 481; Frank O. Lowden, 404; Charles S. Deneen, 382; Howland J. Hamlin, 115; Vespasian Warner, 37; Lawrence Y.

Sherman, 56; John H. Pierce, 22. The proceedings were comparatively tame and at only one time during the session was there any great demonstration. This occurred when a glee club was invited to the platform to sing "Illinois."

Chairman Cannon asked the audience to join in the chorus and he led the refrain from his place on the platform, beating time with a reversed gavel. He looked like an old-time singing master at a country schoolhouse as he swayed his body in unison with the music and measured time with the improvised baton. ## CORTELYOU'S

Will Undoubtedly Manage the Republican Campaign

His Retirement From Cabinet Will Make Necessary the Choice of a Successor, Which Will Not Prove an Easy Matter

Mr. Cortelyou as chairman of the Republican National committee now seems as nearly certain as anything so far in the future can be. Of course, in all such matters the formality of an election must be held, but the committee never fails to ratify a choice made by the president, and unless Cortelyou himself refuses at the last moment to undertake the responsibility the affair may be considered as settled.

Mr. Cortelyou may not be quite the president's other self, but he is a man whom the president finds on the side of honesty, and upright in dealing with political problems which involve delicate gradations from pure expediency to either moral extreme.

It is worth noting that the support of the idea of his chairmanship has come from the best element in the party management. His consent to direct the campaign will be the safest guaranty that it will be conducted on a respectable plan, and free from money scandals, underground councils and secret treatles. Moreover, it is no small advantage to the Roosevelt cause to have associated with it in a commanding capacity a man who stood in so confidential relations with President McKinley. The late president's friends who figure as the chief actors in most of the stories of Republican dissatisfaction with the Roosevelt administration all know Cortelyou well, and trust him. That is more than can be said of the other persons who have been mentioned in connection with the chairmanship.

It is learned that the principal headquarters of the Republican party during the approaching campaign will be in New York city. Headquarters will also be maintained in Chicago. In view of plans already tentatively mapped out, it will be really difficult to distinguish between the two headquarters in the matter of size and importance.

It is not unlikely that a sub-chairman will be in charge of the head- the prize-a game of "Regdel." quarters in each city and that Chairman Cortelyou will spend a part of his time in New York and the remainder in Chicago. He will maintain his home in this city and will visit Washington from time to time during the progress of the campaign.

The retirement of Cortelyou from the cabinet will make necessary the choice of a successor, and this may not prove easy. Some of the prophets are mentioning the name of Mr. Garfield, now the commissioner of corporations. Western newspapers, however, have suggested Representative Metcalf of California for the next cabinet vacancy, and report credits Secretary Moody who is one of his close friends, with having spoken warmly of him, in the same connection.

The president has always held Garfield in high favor, admiring particularly his strong common sense and doubtless has him in view for future preferment. The psychological view of the favorable to Metcalf if these two should seem to be the only availables in sight. Mr. Garfield comes from Ohio and there is no representative of the Pacific coast in the cabinet, whereas the middle west and the Mississippi valley are represented by Secretaries Taft, Wilson and Hitchcock and Postmaster General Payne, and in a way by Secretary Hay property. also, he being quite as much of an Ohio man as anything else. It is safe to assume that there will be no dearth of candidates before the final choice is made; indeed, the chances are that the abundance will be rather embarrassing to a president who is himself a candidate for votes from every section.

Illinois Deadlock Continues Springfield, Ills., May 18.-Two breaks in the Illinois Republican convention, one for the benefit of Frank O. Lowden and the other in the interest of Charles S. The first break came when the Yates rates in Kane and Will counties were hrown to Lowden. After voting for Sherman's men will vote for Deneen today and will give him LEADERS ALL TRUST HIM an opportunity to develop his full strength, but no one believes that he will swing the nomination.

When an attempt was made in Rhode Island to select a party of officials to represent the state at the launching of The scheme of bringing 200 men from last month, considerable feeling was engendered as to the personnel of the party. There were many prominent officials who realized that a trip to the "City of Presidents" would be an enjoyable outing, but of necessity the state felt compelled to limit the party to about twenty. The first list was made up in the absence of Gov. Garvin from the state, and naturally it was not entirely satisfactory to His Excellency, as politics entered. Before the list had been revised satisfactorily, came the news that it would be necessary to postpone the launching indefinitely because of the strike at Quincy.

Now there is disappointment for the favored few, that the state was not represented at the launching which took place Tuesday unannounced and without guests. Some think it was an attempt to smooth over hard feelings engendered. Miss Maude K. Wetmore, who was expected to christen the battleship, could not have been reached at short notice as she was in New York.

FANATICISM OF KURDS

Shepherds by Profession and Murderers From Choice, They Rule a Vast Region--Practically a Law Unto Themselves

Washington, May 18.—The full story of the killing of the American misreceived at the state department from Richard Pearson, United States minister to Persia. The minister's report such a plan. says in part:

It is now 41 days since Rev. Benjamin W. Labaree was murdered near Khoi, but I can only report at present that a large expedition, under command of an energetic general, is scouring the fied. While only four men actually participated in the killing of Mr. Laof the same gang were accomplices. They had simply taken another road for the purpose of entrapping their prey and must be held guilty as accessories before the fact.

The inspiration of the deed was religious and race hatred, without the slightest personal animosity. The fact that the chief and leader of the criminals is a "seyid"—an alleged lineal descendant of Mahomet-adds greatly to the difficulty of the arrest. These Kurds are all Mohammedans of the Sunni sect, and their fanaticism, which is both ardent and sincere, added to their hereditary and instinctive love f blood and pillage, make them a danerous and a difficult population to deal

The area of the home of the Kurds of South Carolina; it disregards imperial boundaries as its inhabitants disregard imperial laws and orders; it exto the pleasure and habits and wanderings of these wild people. Nominally subjects of the shah or the sultan, they are really rulers of the region and practically a law unto themselves.

Kurds are shepherds by profession, but murderers by occupation and has arrived here. The body, which predilection. He prefers a horse that was enclosed in a heremetically sealed he has stolen rather than one he has leaden coffin at Battle harbor, Labraraised, and is fired by the honest belief | dor, is in a fair state of preservation, that his bloodiest deeds against though it was bauled 550 miles across Christians will be crowned by the high- a trackless wilderness. It will be sent est religious sanction and reward, to New York. FRANK A. LOCKE | About 20 years ago these Kurds arose in all their might. They mustered an army of 100,000 men and before they were reduced into subjection they had slaughtered 60,000 Persians, mostly women and children. They left nothing breathing or standing in the path

It seems strange, even sad, that our nissionaries should have chosen such a dangerous field for their labors, but these devoted men and women make personal safety and comfort one of the last considerations. The efforts which I have made to secure the arrest and punishment of the criminals have received unremitting support from the British consul general at Tabriz and from the missionaries.

OIL FOR THE BODY

You can't lose an atom native of Austria. without feeling it. The body is like an engine, a watch, a machine; must be kept in good order to run right.

That's the reason Scott's Emulsion is so successful in at Boston by being run over by an ice all wasting diseases. It feeds, nourishes and strengthens when ordinary food won't.

Doctors say Scott's Emulsion is the best nourishment for those who are not as well as they should be.

We use the whole oil in Scott's Emulsion because the great reputation of cod liver oil as a food and medicine was made by using it in this way. Substitutes in the shape of wines, cordials, extracts, etc., should be carefully avoided.

Fall River ...... 3 Ravages of Cotton Boll Weevil Washington, May 18.-W. D. Hunter, in charge of the agricultural department's boll weevil investigation in which 50 experts are now engaged, re ports that the pest soon will cause an increase in the price of cotton through out the world. By living within the fruit of the plant the weevil is well protected from any poisons that might be applied; it takes only 14 days for development from an egg to adult and the progeny from a single pair in a season may reach 134,000,000 individuals. The probable ultimate damage, when the pest has become spread proximate $250,000,000 annually, pro vided nothing were done to check it.

A beautiful city has grown up among the trees on the World's Fair grounds at St. Louis. It has nothing to do with the immense exhibit palaces, but is a thing apart. The houses in this new city are of various styles of architec ture. Some are palatial in size and appearance, while others look merely cozy where he was born about 60 years ago, and inviting. Never before have so and had always resided there. He was many notable and historic buildings chorus, "Mid the Waving Rose Trees", a plumber by trade. He was appointed been constructed in one group. But two states were still ant step by step in reward for faithful outside the fold at the last report, and in each of these was a well defined movement in favor of being represent ed at the Fair with buildings and exhibits. New Hampshire, the old home state, and Delaware are the states referred to. In New Hampshire a fund for participation is being raised privately by patriotic citizens, so that in the event of legislative inaction this commonwealth may be represented.

The states and territories are expending over $7,000,000 in their efforts to show off to best advantage at the Exposition. This is a million and a third more than was expended at the Chicago exposition by the states. In addition to this, large cities in many states will have municipal exhibits, the funds for which are not included in these figures. The municipal exhibit idea is entirely novel. From a number of the states there will be prominent county exhibits provided by special appropriation of county funds.

This City of the States presents a picture of surpassing beauty. Nature has done much to aid in the creation of the picture. Never before has any exposition been able to grant such advantageous sites for state buildings. The buildings are situated on a plateau about seventy-five feet higher than the level ground to the north upon which stand the main exhibit palaces. There are hills and ravines here and there, enabling the landscapists to lay out a most delightful pattern of roads and terraces and lawns.

The smallest of the state buildings is that of Arizona, which stands near the southeastern entrance to the grounds. One of the largest is that of Missouri, from the dome of which it is said that perhaps the very finest view of the Exposition may be enjoyed. This building is a palace in the Italian renaissance architecture, built at a cost of $105,000. Near by is the reproduc tion of the Cabildo at New Orleans, in which the Louisiana Purchase transfer ceremonies took place - Louisiana's state building. Ohio has a clubhouse of highly ornate design, in the architec ture of the French renaissance. Illinois is prominent with a most pretentious structure, with wide verandas and a commanding cupola.

A description of each of the state buildings, with any detail, would more than fill a newspaper page. It is only possible here to hint at some of the interesting structures. California, for instance, has reproduced in exact size the famous old La Rabida Mission. Connecticut presents a replica of the Sigourney residence at Hartford, home of the poetess Lydia Huntley Sigourney in her time. This building is said to be the finest specimen of purely colonial architecture now standing. The New Kentucky Home, from the Blue Grass State, is a handsome clubhouse that would make some of the mansions along Fifth avenue, New York city, look insignificant. Beauvoir, the quaint old house which Jefferson Davis owned and occupied for many years, is reproduced by Mississippi. Its wide verandas or galleries give it a most inviting appearance. Washington's headquarters at Morristown, N. J., are reproduced by New Jersey. Virginia contributes Monti-

BOMB FOR THE CZAR

Young Woman of Good Family

Intended to Kill Ruler Breslau, Prussia, May 19.-The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Breslau Zeitung reports that the authorities detected and thwarted a plot to attack the czar with a bomb during the spring parade in St. Petersburg on May 10. The czar always reviews the parade on horseback, taking a position before and slightly to one side of the pavilion from which the empress and the grand duchess view the pageant. The municipality erects a grand stand, tickets to which are sold publicly, the names and addresses of the buyers being noted.

As persons in the front rows could easily throw an object to the place where the emperor stands, the authorities reserve the right of cancelling the sales of tickets if the buyers are not known to be absolutely trustworthy and they subject the occupants of the grand stand to the closest scrutiny.

Just before the emperor arrived on the parade ground it was noticed that Miss Merezhevsky, daughter of a leading Russian psychiatrist and Privy Councillor Merezhevsky, who occupied one of the seats nearest the pavilion, was nervous and excited. Risking a scandal should their suspicions prove to be unfounded, the authorities ordered her arrest, which was effected unobtrusively. A search disclosed a HENRY O. Comptroller Grout's Kick Evidently Means Something

A FORMAL DECLARATION

Asks Brooklyn Democrats to Assert Their Independence and Throws Down Gauntlet to Tammany Hall

New York, May 19.-Comptroller OFFICE Hours: 8.30 to 12.30 and 1.30 to 5 Grout has made a formal declaration of ening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday. war against Tammany, and asked all good Democrats in Brooklyn to assert their independence by joining Senator McCarren in his fight for Brooklyn's autonomy. He added that he was not FRANK A. LOCKE seeking the gubernatorial nomination that he was not in alliance with any politicians to bring about his nomination, and that he was opposing Murphy's course solely in the interests of Brooklyn. His declaration caused a sensation in Tammany Hall and added greatly to the bitterness of the participants in the Murphy-McCarren feud. This is the comptroller's statement:

"In the first place, I have had no negotiations with anybody about the nomination for governor, nor any promises, and am not seeking such a nomination. Nor have I acted under the influence of the probable effect of what I have done upon nominating or eligibility for nomination. Indeed, I must go farther and say that I have thought all along and still think that the course which I have taken is more likely to lead away from future nominations than toward

There are some things much greater at stake in Brooklyn than the personal interests of either McCarren or myself. or of any other man. Last fall when the Willoughby-street leaders abandoned the party the rank and file chose McCarren to the post, and today there would be no opposition to him worthy of the name if it were not instigated by Murphy and nurtured and sustained by removals and threats of removals and promises of appointments.

"I have no hostility to Murphy in his own jurisdiction, but when he thus invades Brooklyn and seeks to subject ave opened with a full line of Ladies' and it, to make it a mere Roman province, a Phillipine islands territory or a Persian satrapy, when of right it should be free and independent, I deem it the duty of every Brooklyn Democrat to resist him, at whatever cost to his own personal

I have no right to sit by quietly and acquiesce in such a revolution as Murphy proposes.

"The public need not fear, however, that I will abuse my office or the public trust committed to me. There will be no fear of that. I very much misapprehend the spirit of Democracy in Brooklyn if it be willing to accept any more promises or assurances of autonomy and independence when it sees how easily those given last fall have been broken this spring and when it now has it within its power to assert

Iowa Stand Patters Victorious Des Moines, May 19.-Iowa's long fight between "stand pat" Republicans and liberals upon the issue of tariff revision and reciprocity ended in complete victory for the former in the state convention for selecting delegates to the national convention. Of 26 delegates chosen, 20 are "stand patters" and only six are liberals. The resolutions adopted contain no sentiment whatever in favor of tariff revision, but declare that protective principles "found its high fulfilment in the Dingley law." As to reciprocity the platform declares that it is "unwise to seek markets abroad by sacrificing some parts of the markets at home."

Anti-Primary Reform Won Grand Rapids, Mich., May 19.-The

A pure cream of tartar baking powder like Cleveland's, pound for pound, will raise twice as much bread, cake and pastry as the cheap alum powders and will give you good, wholesome food.

If housewives knew the bad effects of alum baking powder upon the system you could not give them a can. Yet some of it is sold every day because people think it is cheap.

papal protest.

We are told in Sir Walter Scott's "Tales of a Grandfather" that in the reign of James I. of Scotland a highland robber chief named MacDonald plundered a poor widow of two of her cows and that she in her anger vowed that she would never wear shoes again till she had carried her complaint to the king for redress. "It is a false boast," replied the bandit. "I will have you shod myself before you can reach the court." To carry out his threat he caused a smith to nail shoes to the woman's naked feet and then thrust her forth, wounded and bleeding, on the highway. The widow, however, faithful to her word, as soon as her wounds had healed went to the king and told him of this atroclous cruelty. James heard her with mingled pity and indignation, and in righteous retribution caused MacDonald and twelve of his followers to be seized and shod with iron shoes as they had done to the POWER! poor widow. In this condition they were exhibited to the public for three days and then executed.

Once more the anniversary, so sacred to the Grand Army of the Republic, so sacred to all Serious, patriotic minds, is at hard. The return of another year reminds us of the duty we have to ONE A BIG BATTLESHIP the year 1863. The list was issued Oct. Patch to the Herald. The battleships perform in memory of those comrades who have passed to higher life, and have entered the ranks of that vast army of soldier dead. There is no brighter day in the long calendar of time than the Memorial Day of the American people. This generation has no sweeter duty than to increase Memorial Day of the Anthony and to advance it surely to the position of a universally accepted the love of the people for this day and to advance it surely to the position of a universally accepted national anniversary, on whose recurrence old bitterness shall be forgotten, all strifes obliter national anniversary, on services and our hearts. They, whose services we honor, died to accomplish this result. The olive wreath long since crowned their victorious brows. Their fame is secure and wide as the world. Year by year the ranks of the soldiers of '61-'65 grow thinner. Year by year an increasing number pass on to the great majority. LOSSES FOR JAPS OLD YOTING LIST.

Accidents Cost Her Navy the Loss of Four Vessels and Went Down--Cruiser Was Rammed and Sunk During a Fog--Two Thousand Russians Reported Killed or Wounded In Engagement During Land- than one ward now. ing of Troops

London, May 20.-The English newspapers express the greatest regret and placed mines at such a distance.

Admiration is expressed at the smartness of the Japanese in saving so many lives from their vessels. Incidentally the papers use the disasters to point out a lesson to the British political party which charges that the govern-posted on Japanese views, thinks that Brackett, Elbridge Cross, Franklin Curthe disasters to the Japanese vessels will lead Japan to devote her attention to reducing Port Arthur, on the ground J. Franklin Faxon, Henry H. Faxon, that it is all-important that she retain command of the seas.

the Russians quit New Chwang, but field, Francis l'. Loud. finding the way northward blocked by Japanese, decided to return to New Chwang and hold out there as long as possible in the hope of relief.

Tokio dispatches say that Admiral the battleship Hatsuse.

Admiral Togo's announcement of the by the Kasuga, both accidents occurring on May 15, brings Japan's naval losses up to an important total of four war vessels. Besides the two named in latest dispatches she lost on May 12 a torpedo boat, and on May 15 the cruiser Miyaka, of 1800 tons, both of these being destroyed by Russian mines which they were trying to remove from Kerr bay. The loss of life in these first two cases was trivial; that on the Hatsuse and Yoshino together is 641.

The Standard's correspondent at Tien Tsin cables that while the Japanese fleet was covering the landing of troops near Kai Chau on Monday a sharp engagement occurred at Hsin Yen Cheng. Two thousand Russians were killed or wounded. The Russians retreated and the Japanese occupied both Kaiping and Kai Chau. The Chinese governor at Chen Chow has received news, the correspondent adds, that the Russians have destroyed the railway between Taschichiao and New Chwang.

The destruction of four war vessels in as many days is an impressive record for what were presumably all Russian mines. Admiral Togo's statement in his report that the Hatsuse was cruising off the harbor to protect the landing of soldiers, indicates an energetic land movement against Port Arthur, though from what side, or whether for an assault, cannot be safely inferred from this reference.

Foreign Minister Lamsdorff urges on the powers the necessity of compelling China to preserve actual as well as theoretical neutrality. The Chinese in Manchuria are considered hostile, and the reported difficulties of the 25,000 Russian railway guards, who may not be able to prevent all the attempts of bandits to break the line, illustrate the uncomfortable position the Russian army holds.

Results of Fight on the Yalu Tokio, May 20 .- General Kuroki reports that the Japanese losses at the battle of Kiu Lien Cheng (May 1) were: Killed, five officers and 218 men; wounded, 33 officers and 783 men. Thirteen hundred and sixty-three Russian dead were buried and 18 officers and 595 men were made prisoners. The Japanese captured 21 quick-firing guns, 19 ammunition wagons, 1417 shells, eight machine guns and 37,000 shells for these guns; 1021 rifles and 350,000 rounds of ammunition, 63 horses, 10 wagons and 1244 coats and 541 tents.

Accident to Russian Crulser Paris, May 20 .- The correspondent at St. Petersburg of The Echo De Paris says: The Russian cruiser Bogatyr grounded during a fog on the rocks near the entrance to Vladivostok. Her position is critical. The crew was saved. Reported Defeat of Japs New Chwang, May 20.—It is reported here from reliable sources that the $75 Japanese army from the Yalu river has received a heavy blow and been driven back to Feng Wang Cheng. Japs Near Port Arthur Tokio, May 20 .- It is reported that small skirmishes are taking place south of Kin Chou. The Japanese line is less than 45 miles from Port Arthur.

Wanted a Scoop.

"Can you point out Adm. Bowles to me, sir?" asked a hustling newspaper man of a prominent naval officer at the launching of the battleship Rhode Island at Quincy says the Record.

"There he is right over there," replied the officer, pointing to an elderly looking man in civilian dress, standing a little apart from the rest of the brilliant gathering.

The reporter rushed over to the man designated, and started right in to fire questions at him as fast as he could about the different parts of the new vessel. Getting no information from the supposed admiral, he turned on his Joining another naval officer who was plained of Adm. Bowles' discourtesy, and said that he did not seem to know anything about the vessel. "Where is he?" asked the officer.

'Which man did you talk with ?"

When the reporter pointed out the

Tribute to Mr. Higgins.

As indicative of their kindly feeling and high esteem, the members of the labor organizations of the Southern Railway Saturday presented to Samuel Higgins, former mechanical superintendent of that road, a handsome silver service and cut glass table ware to the value of $1,000. Mr. Higgins recently resigned to go to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad as general manager and none rejoiced more because of this deserved promotion than did his former associates on the Southern.

The presentation speech was to have been made by Archibald McGilvery, district president of the International Association of Machinists, but his train was late, and as he did not arrive in time the presentation was . made by J. C. Ramage, of the testing department of the Southern Railway. - Washington Post.

ANT PECULIARITIES.

Each Species Has a Distinct Odor Discernible by Other Ants.

Each ant species appears to have its ants. Within each species there are are produced. The ant's organs of smell are its antennae, and the antennae consist, as it were, of a series of noses, each of which has a special task. One nose tells the ant whether it is in is own nest or that of an enemy. Anther nose discriminates between odors f ants of the same species, but of diferent colonies. The third serves the surpose of discerning the scent laid lown by the ant's own feet, so that it may retrace its steps along its own path. Another rose smells the ant weather had arrived? It did look so larvae and pupae, and the fifth nose at quarter to one, but at quarter past detects the presence of an enemy. Thus if an ant be left with only the of the teachers. A jolly good time four noses it will live peaceably with alien ants, but while it has its fifth nose it will fight the alien to the death. ance before they are twelve hours old they will thereafter live amicably together, though of different species or subfamilies. But in three days after hatching their criterion of correct ant odor is established, and they refuse to affiliate with ants whose odor is not in accord with their standard.

LINCOLN'S FOETRY.

Verses That Were Brought to Light

Only to Be Destroyed. It is a sentimental habit of speech to regret the "songs never sung." Yet the dispassionate critic knows there is quite enough poetry unless it is of the very best. He has no tears for "mute, inglorious Miltons." But there is no true American who would not pay a price for a certain batch of poems probably long ago destroyed.

Gibson William Harris, who was a law student in Lincoln & Herndon's office from 1845 to 1847, has written for the Woman's Home Companion some of his recollections of Abraham Lincoln. In putting the office in order one morning he came upon two or three quires of letter paper stitched together inside a desk. He turned the leaves and found that they were covered with stanzas in Mr. Lincoln's neat running hand.

When Mr. Lincoln came in, the young man took the manuscript out of the desk again and held it up with the unnecessary and impertinent inquiry whether the poems were his. "Where did you find It?" asked Mr.

He took the manuscript, rolled it up and stuffed it into his pocket. It was never seen again. The theory of the writer who tells the story is that it was taken home and put into the fire.

THE BLACK PANTHER.

So Fierce That Even Lion Trainers Dare Not Handle Him.

Of all the big, dangerous cats, none is more unapproachable and more treacherous than the black panther. Hailing from the heart of the deepest African jungle, lithe and supple body, alert and nervous, this stealt marauder exceeds in ferocity even Bengal tiger. He is the only big feline that the lion trainer does not venture to train, and he is the only cat so absolutely distrustful that he shuns even the light of day. Often he will lie all day long in a dusky corner of his cage.

IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DELEGATES REACH HISTORIC CITY.

[Special Correspondence.]

fourth Sunday school convention was of exceeding interest. At that point and at Caifa parties left the main body the sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles, past ancient Troy and Troas, where Paul had his vision; thence on Ephesus; from there past numerous islands full of historical interest, most notable of which was Patmos, where St. John wrote the Apocalypse Rhodes, noted for the great figure that in ancient times spanned its harbor and Cyprus. Patmos was passed about daybreak. Notwithstanding the early hour, the decks were crowded with those who wanted nothing so much as a glimpse of the place made so famous by St. John. This bit of land could be plainly seen in the distance.

Our visit to Constantinople was revelation in more ways than one. In the first place, it was so cold that an overcoat was a positive necessity for comfort. The cold weather, we were told, was very unusual and more se vere than had been experienced there during the whole winter. The skies, except for a very short time, were clear, and we were able to enjoy to the utmost our stay in this most interest ing city. It is estimated that the pop ulation of Constantinople is close t 900,000. One-half of that number be long to the Turkish race and are of course Mohammedans. Almost every other race under the sun is represented among the inhabitants. The city is divided into three parts by the Golden Horn and the Bosporus. Galata, on the west side of the Bosporus, as is also Stamboul, is in Europe. The Golden Horn flows between these two sec tions of the city. Scutari is opposite both the sections named and is on the Asiatic side. The means of communication between these portions of the great city, which is spread out over

HARBOR OF CONSTANTINOPLE AND MOSQUE

OF ST. SOPHIA. considerable territory, is by bridge two of which connect Stamboul with Galata. There are also numerous ferry lines that make access to the various sections of the city comparatively $6.75 easy. Pera, the hill section of Galata, is the European quarter, where are found the embassies, the principal hotels, clubs, theaters and gardens. In tow of a good guide we saw the most important mosques, of which there are a great many in the city; the tombs of the sultans, the treasury, the 7 00 museums, the bazaars and one or more of the sultan's palaces on the Bosporus. A number of the mosques were once Christian churches, notably St. Sophia, which was built by Con-7.25 stantine and cost no one knows how many millions of dollars, because of $1.50 per week. Two rooms turnished for light the rare marble, mosaics, tiles, etc., of which it is made up. Probably the places most of interest to Sunday school delegates were the 8.00 American School For Girls in Scutari and Robert college for boys in Galata. Both are Congregational institutions, though Robert college is working independently now. They are do-7.00 ing splendid work, and their influence is widespread, graduates going out into all walks of life, rarely leaving 6.75 either institution without becoming Christians. In the school for girls the enrollment this year is 130, made up of thirteen distinct nationalities. At Smyrna, our next stopping place, is another college under the American board. It is the International college, of which Rev. Alexander McLachlan 5.00 is president. Arriving at Smyrna, we attended exercises at this college in a body, as we had done at the others, and were enthusiastically received by the students. From Smyrna we took special trains for the site of ancient Ephesus, where Paul spent two profitable years of his ministry. The ruins of the great theater and other buildings in which we have record of his presence were visited by the delegates. In the theater, where Demetrius, the silversmith, started a riot against Paul, the Sunday school delegates held a meeting. I forget to mention that before leaving Constantinople our captain steamed up into the Black sea to give us a look at that body of water.

It was long ago I read the story sweet-Of how the German mothers, o'er the sea, Wind in throughout the yarn their girlies knit, Some trinkets small, and tiny, shining coins, That when the little fingers weary grow, And fain would lay aside the tiresome task, From out the ball will drop the hidden gift, To please and urge them on in search of more And so, I think, the Father kind above, Winds in and out the skein of life we weave Then when we weary grow, and long for rest, They help to cheer and urge us on f r more; And far adown within the ba'l we find, When all the threads of life at last are spun, The grandest gift of all-cternal life.

At the meeting of the school committee held at Braintree it was voted that the graduating exercises of grammar schools be abolished. For some time it has been felt that the granting of a diploma with elaborate exercises has tended to create a gap between the grammar school and the high school Confectionery, -Mrs. John Stuart when no such gap should exist.

The work of the public schools goes on without a break from the first grade to the twelfth and the step from the eighth to the ninth should be the same as from the sixth or any other to the next above. It therefore seemed advisable to abolish the graduation exercises of the grammar schools and make the high school graduation with the granting of the diplomas mark the completion of the public school course.

Forced to Retire Twelve Miles Toward Their Base

ATTACKED BY COSSACKS

Pursuit Stopped When Junction Was Formed With Japanese Main Army--Russia Expects Japan to Strain Every Nerve to Take Port Arthur

St. Petersburg, May 21.-Following on the heels of the news of the disasters to the Japanese fleet, the general staff received official advices of the defeat of the Japanese force which was marching northward from Feng Wang Cheng for the purpose of executing a flank movement on Mukden. Details of the dispatch will not be made public until it has been passed by the war commission, but enough is known to make it clear that in order to save themselves from destruction the Japanese were compelled to retreat towards Feng Wang Cheng.

Since General Kuroki sent a column northward to gain the road leading directly west from Mukden, General Kuropatkin has kept it in under the closest surveillance, awaiting the moment when it should be so distant from the main Japanese army as to prevent its easy reinforcement. In observing this plan the Russians withdrew and the Japanese, not finding a strong force of the enemy before them, continued to advance.

When the time for action came General Kuropatkin let General Rennenkampff loose from the leash. Rennenkampff had under his command only a few regiments, but they were the flower of the Cossack cavalry. On May 18 he fell on the enemy, whose number has not yet been revealed, with such vigor as to compel the Japanese retirement 12 miles toward the base, near enough, ft is presumed, to have received reinforcements from Kuroki, who must immediately have been advised of the awkward predicament. The operation is described by the general staff as just such a move as it was expected Kuronatkin would make and for which Renpenkampff was fitted and chosen.

The latter's appearance on the stare tended that he should raid Korea at the beginning of the war, but he arrived at the front too late. He is a man the opportunity, and his men had been | Mistaking the fog horn for the whistie selected because they knew what it was of another steamer, and attempting to to be under fire. ### RAID ON POOLROOMS

Many Prisoners and Large Quantity of Paraphernalia Taken

New York, May 21.-Simultaneous raids on 21 alleged poolrooms and poolroom exchanges were made here by the police. Axes, hammers and crowbars were used at many of the places to batter down iron and steel doors and to gain entrance through barred windows. Seventy prisoners were taken and many telephones and telegraph instruments were confiscated, besides a number of books and racing charts.

One of the places raided was in the Edison building, in Broad street, in a small vine-covered house, on the roof of which 34 telephones and 13 men were found. The police claim that this is the chief headquarters of the poolroom syndicate, in the distribution of each day's racing information, and the entire Wall street poolroom business will be seriously affected, if not ruined by it.

Another raid was in the Syndicate building in Park Row, where 20 prisoners, 33 telephones and three telegraph instruments were taken.

Police Commissioner McAdoo said after the raids that the blow delivered at the system is a very serious one.

At the close of her season in "When Knighthood Was In Flower" Miss Marlowe presented "Ingomar," in which she is now appearing.

Miss Marlowe's engagement at the Empire is only for a limited time. Additional interest is given to it by the fact that this will be the last time she will play in New York as a solitary star for some years to come, as she joins forces with E. H. Gwendoline Valentine and Katherine Wilson.

Ezra Kendall is one at least who has no notion of returning to vaslevile, and presently we may begin to look for his appearance here. It is almost a year now since he was with us in "The Vinegar Buyer," and he is beginning to tire of the road.

John Kendrick Bangs is writing a play for him, and, as he can hardly fail to do something better than "The Vinegar Buyer," Kendall will be welcomed back. The actor will not suffer he is to be preserved as carefully as a museum mummy. Even the nap on his imperishable beaver is to be as

DRESS COATS.

Their Cheerful Symbolism In the Family-True Value of Etiquette.

How far or how much should we behave at home as we do in company? Must we be just as much dressed and just as agreeable in family life as in society? Must our husbands and sons wear dress coats at dinner? Yes, if Montclair for Boston—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.24 8.31 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 7.21 9.21 P. The Attractive Modern Kitchen. Sightliness is no longer considered an unimportant factor in kitchen furnishings, as the displays at house furnishing stores testify. Everything is made as attractive as use warrants. Cleanliness is more easily obtained in the modern kitchen than in the old time one, because metal, enamel and earthen wares have taken the place so largely of wood and iron. Dark, unsavory corners and nooks are no longer possible in the up to date kitchen.

"By the introduction of this wideawake advertising scheme and its "upto-date" execution the city has received an impulse which is big with promising results. It shows the spirit of push that always makes things go. It is true such an enterprise can but bring immediate commercial gain to every business man, but it will bring and must bring to the community at large, of which every business man is a necessary part, a most decided advantage. It is a remarkable book and surpasses in vividness and charm any of the half pages. dozen books that this accomplished writer has produced on Japan. Kwaidan means weird tales, and certainly the stories that Hearn gives here would have delighted Poe or any other lover of the grewsome and the grotesque. Hearn has a style that equals that of Robert Louis Stevenson. It is rich, poetical and full of the charm of a rare personality. Hearn was a reporter on a Cincinnati newspaper twen-

The announcement was made at the dinner given in honor of the event, when the president of the university said in his speech that the larger salary of foreign teachers was really an invidious distinction which would now, of course, be removed.

Demand That Sweeping Measures Be Taken to Secure Release of Perdicaris, Even to Extent of Paying Ransom

Washington, May 21.—Ion Perdicaris, the wealthy American resident of Tangier, and his stepson, a British subject, who were captured by brigands, have been carried into the mountains, where pursuit is almost impossible. The state department has been advised to this effect by Mr. Gummere, United States consul general at Tangier. He also reports that no terms have been received from the brigand chief.

Mr. Gummere further requested in connection with the dispatch of a warship to Tangier that one of large size be sent, so as to make a better impression. Word has been received that a British torpedo boat destroyer has already arrived at Tangier, so that the foreign residents will have some protec

He was on good terms with every element in Morocco and, indeed, it is stated by one of the persons who knew him well, that he gave frequent refuge to the very bandit chieftain who kidnapped him.

Acting Secretary Loomis has instructed Consul Gemmere by cable to act with the greatest vigor and demand of the Moorish government that it take the most sweeping measures to secure the release of Perdicaris, even if necessary to accede to the terms of the

After consultation with Admiral Taylor, chief of the navigation bureau, the naval measures resolved on were strengthened considerably. Admiral Chadwick, when he reaches Fayal in a few days, will receive orders to proceed with the whole south Atlantic squadron to Tangier, while Admiral Jewell, with the newly formed European squadron, who is about three days behind Admiral Chadwick, will be ordered to follow to Tangier if the emergency still

Father a Harvard Instructor

Cambridge, Mass., May 21.-Ion Perdicaris' was a member of Harvard class, 1860, but remained only two years in college, leaving in 1858, going to England, where he married his present wife, who was then a Mrs. Varley, who had two sons and two daughters. Perdihad married into a prominent South Carolina family, came to America, having been forced to leave his native land for political reasons. Ion is his only son. The father was teacher of modern languages for a time at Harvard college. He continued to live in this country until 1880, his home being reverted to his son at his death. Perdicaris entertained lavishly in his Moorish home, his doors being always being pen to Americans visiting in Morocco.

"The 'Bucktails' was the name of a company raised in Bucks county, Pa., and was one of the first to reach Washington after the battle of Bull Run. The members were all mountaineers who had spent their lives hunting deer and squirrels in the Blue Ridge range in Pennsylvania, and for that reason were employed as sharpshooters throughout the struggle. ### MANAGERS IN A MUDDLE

Puzzled Over Selection of a Negro to Second Roosevelt's Nomination--Ne Orators From the South and North Shut Out

Washington, May 21.-The presence in this city of Elmer Dover, secretary of the National Republican committee, for the purpose of confering with various party managers as to the program of the Chicago convention has drawn attention to the fact that the chief speakers have not yet been assigned. This is not a matter of so great concern in the case of a convention called to renominate a president now in the chair as it would be in one which was to furnish a brand-new candidate, whose success might depend somewhat upon the momentum given to his canvass by inspiring oratory.

In the present instance, however, the managers seem to be at sea on a difficult question-the choice of a negro to make one of the speeches. Of the many counsellors who have taken part in the discussion since the question was first mooted the larger number seem to favor not having any negro orator. The southern men, as a rule, insist that this will be the part of wisdom as applied to their section of the country, where it is desirable to countreact the effect of some recent events and give the negro a better perspective view of his own status in the party. Another element on the same side argues that, as the president's personality will be platform enough for most of the people to whom the party must look for the balance of power, so his record on the negro question will speak louder than any negro's speech in the convention possibly could. Another group who have considered the matter, note the fact that although Start right now to make your plan for securing a home. Don't put it off fewer negroes will probably sit in this until the last minute and then find that there is not time to buy before convention than in any of its recent predecessors, and the average quality of the men will be correspondingly higher, most of those who take part will, as usual, come from the south, and therefore it would be most natural to choose any colored orator from among that contingent; but they further argue that this would be a mistake. Recognition of the negro, they say, ought to be extended in convention as it is at polls, and therefore that the negro orators should come from the north, where they enjoy a free ballot and a fair count, instead of from the south, where their participation in public affairs is reduced to a minium, and that minium is a mere to a minimum, and that minimum is a mere mockery in effect.

The best negro orators seem by one matter to pick one haphazard from the is a realization of the crisis through ganization. which negro citizenship is passing that makes some of the best friends of the black race most careful in guarding against a false step. If William H. Lewis of Massachusetts or Charles W. Anderson of New York were to sit in convention, he would probably be designated without more ado. But Lewis labors under the handicap of having been for some time a federal officeholder, and Anderson, it is generally understood here, was left off the New York delegation at the instance of Governor Odell.

COUNDA CHANLESS The program makers are still mulling er the question, and it may be several days before it is known how this color problem, which has given them so much trouble, will be solved,

GLINES SENTENCED

At Least Five Years In Prison For Former City Treasurer

Salem, Mass., May 21.-A sentence of not less than five nor more than seven years in state prison was passed upon John E. Glines, formerly city treasurer of Haverhill, by Judge Wait in the Essex county superior court. Glines heights, a perfectly absurd and most pleaded guilty last January to a charge of stealing bonds from the city, valued at $43,000. He used the bonds to raise funds to cover investments on margins. Sentence was deferred at the time the case was heard in court in order to permit Glines to assist the Haverhill officials to straighten out the accounts.

In court, Chairman Gale of the Haverhill sinking fund commissioners and other citizens made a plea for a minimum sentence. They thought Glines had intended to make restitution when he took the bonds, but that the continued fall in steel stocks, in which he was interested, prevented him. A petition was presented from 40 bank directors of Haverhill, and from other business men, urging clemency. District Attorney Peters stated that there were too many such cases, and advocated a strong sentence. Judge Waitdeclared that he would not give a minimum sentence, as he believed that public officials should not speculate in

Damages Fcr Appendicitis

Boston, May 21.-An interesting point ! of law was determined by the full bench of the supreme court when it held that the Boston Elevated Railway company was liable for an attack of appendicitis which James J. Sullivan suffered 27 months after an injury he sustained by reason of the negligence of the road. The company had strenuously urged that the attack of appendicitis was too remote and that the accident was not the proximate cause of it. Sullivan received a verdict of $4000, but subsequently agreed to abate $1000

THE PUZZLED IRISHMAN. A Good Story of Meagher's Brigade at Marye's Hill,

"At the battle of Fredericksburg where our fellows, under Burnside were slaughtered by the Johnnies, said Private Conlin of the Eighty eighth New York, "the Irish brigade was ordered to charge up Marye's murderous undertaking. The enemy were behind stone walls, and, notwith standing the fact that the men with sprigs of green on their hats fell nearest the stone wall, we Irish were driven back like the troops that preceded us. Our only glory was that we came nearest to the wall and left many brave fellows with green sprigs in their or on a hot air register until it is warm caps to testify how desperately we fought for Old Glory on that fatal day. "General Meagher, who commanded the brigade, lod us in person and inspired both officers and men by his gallantry. Our company was commanded by a brave but eccentric captain. He was well read on Irish history and the military record of the Irish in Europe. After our repulse, and while reforming for another dash, the captain reminded us of the glorious feats of arms performed by the Irish brigade in the service of France, and that we must not disgrace the record. 'Victory or death, boys, this time,' said he, waving his sword, 'and remember Fontenoy!' "In this company was a long, gawky

New Yorker named Bill Wall, who had never read of Ireland. He knew probably that such a country existed. Bill was tough of speech and had a most provoking New England drawl. As the captain concluded his spirited and inspiring address and we were about to take up the trot step, Bill drawled out, 'Say, cap, who t-h-e h- was t-h-a-t, a-h, V-o-n T-1-n H-o-y?'

"Fortunately for us, the order to retire instead of to charge was just then the arrow turn toward any one of them passed along, as not a man in the company could have kept up the charging at him. You promise to do this withstep, so convulsed were we all with laughter both at the captain's disgust and Bill's unsophisticatedness. It cured the cap, too," concluded Private Con-lin, "of his highfalutin speeches to the boys on the firing line."

ELUSIVE GEORGIA PIG.

A Disobedience of Orders Against "Bummers" Ended Happily.

"When Sherman's army left Raleigh on the march north to Richmond," said a lank New Hampshire comrade during a recent G. A. R. encampment, "we had very strict orders about foraging, and to enforce these orders General Sherman had patrols out on both sides of his column to enforce obedience. This became very troublesome at times. I remember that on one occasion myself and ten others were detailed for six days' duty along certain lines on about four days' rations. Well, along toward the end we became very hungry and starved out, and you can imagine my joy better than I can describe it when on the evening of the sixth day my messmate came in and the easiest to balance. whispered to me that he had found a fat pig about half a mile off in the woods, proposing that we go and capture him.

"So off we posted and soon arrived at a small garden surrounded by a picket fence, in which Mr. Pig was roaming about quite at his own ease and liberty. We climbed the fence and undertook to run the pig down, but the trouble was that he ran about twice as fast as we did, and we soon gave up trying to capture him by this means. "'I'll tell you what we'll do,' said my messmate, "We will run him down by turns. You run him awhile, as I rest up, and when you get tired I'll try him for a few paces.' So we started in to run Mr. Porker down by turns. It was about my third turn at trying to capture the animal when, on nearing a fence corner, I happened to look up and saw, to my ufter dismay, two commissioned officers leaning over the fence watching my movements. "'What are you doing over there?"

one of them asked. "I saw that I was caught red handed, so I replied, 'Oh, nothing; just trying to see how fast this pig can run." "The officers laughed at this, and doubtless realizing that we needed something to fill our stomachs, turned and walked away, and the result was that we got our pig."

THE OBEDIENT ARROW.

Without Touching It You May Make It Point Where You Please.

Drive a large needle entirely through large cork until the head is buried. Set the cork on the table, with the foint of the needle up, and balance on the point a little arrow or pointer made of rather stiff but not heavy paper. Cover the whole thing with a tumbler which has stood near the fire and thoroughly dry.

Now, as your friends gather around the table, you may promise to make and then remain motionless, pointing out touching the arrow or even removing the tumbler.

To do it you must have a silk handkerchief or some other piece of silk. Hold the tumbler in place with your left hand and with your right rub the glass up and down with the silk at the point nearest the person selected.

If the arrow is already pointing anywhere near that direction it will turn until it points to the rubbed place and then stop. If, however, it happens to be pointing in nearly the opposite direction you will have to first rub near the point of the arrow. As it turns toward the rubbed spot move your hand a little distance and rub again. In this way you may coax the arrow around until you get it where you want it.

Indeed, you can make it rotate all the way round in either direction as long as you please by continuing to rub and keeping your hand always just ahead of the point of the arrow. It is not necessary to rub very hard or all the time.

The difficult part of this trick is balancing the arrow on the needle. The sort of arrow shown in the picture is

BOSTON THEATRE.

A musical comedy with a plot and without a trace of tenderloin flavor is the description given of "Girls Will be Girls," written by Joseph Hart and R. Melville Baker, which will be produced by William A. Brady at the Boston Theatre for two weeks, b ginning next Monday evening, and including besides the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees a special holiday matinee on Memorial Day. The performance has several features of unusual interest both by reason of the fact that its author is a Bosplace called Sunnyville, which really is Somer-CHRISTADELPHIAN CHURCH, at Keating's ville, Mass. ### CASTLE SQUABE THEATRE.

The play made by Archibald Clavering Gunter from his novel, "My Official Wife," is to have its first Boston production as the Castle Square theatre attraction of next week. Mr Gunter closely follows the story of his novel, which, it will be remembered, deals with the odd experiences of a good natured American, wife. The complications following his action have been skilfully used in the melodramatic treatment of the story for the stage. Miss Blanche Stoddard's engagement is continued for this production, in which the cast of leading characters will be as follows: Arthur Bainbridge Lenox, Howell Hansel; Colonel Petroff, John 1. Craven; Baron Friedrich, John E. Webber; Sacha Weletsky, John Sainpolis: Constanting Louis Thiel: Helene Marie, Blanche Stoddard Laura, Isabelle Fletcher; Mlle. Improvement In Personnel and Character of Membership Preferable to Bringing In Grievances and Seeking Higher Wages dinner given by the local lodge of the to ride. Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to Andrew P. After First Vice President Todd and John M. Hall, general counsel for the company and formerly its president, ad spoken, C. S. Mellen, president of the road, made a brief address. Mr. Mellen said in substance:

"I am glad to accept the invitation to be present and I have made some personal sacrifices to be here. I am in favor of organizations like this provided they are conservatively managed. The Firemen's Brotherhood was the first and is one of the best Start right now to make your plan for securing a home. Don't put it off unions in this country. "Let me suggest that your effort should be the more directed to improve the personnel and character of your membership, so that when a member of your brotherhood comes before the membership in your order is a certificate of his ability and character. Let me also assure you that there is no frost on the door-knob of my office door for any man that has a grievance or any injustice which he can show the other officials of the company are not willing to correct. Let us all strive for harmony so that differences between employer and employe be eliminated." Vice President 10dd and Judge Hall also complimented the brotherhood highly and referred pleasantly to the many times they had met with Kelly and the members of the firemen's grievance committee. When Kelly was surprised with the gift of a diamond ring by his fellow firemen, he made a speech partly directed to Mellen and partly to the firemen. He told Mellen that the firemen asked for nothing that was not fair, and that they had found fair and courteous treatment from every executive of the company.

The House Expected to Kill the Senate Bill.

The action if the Senate in passing under suspension of rules the Hotel bill which will allow the sale of liquors between 11 and 12 P. M. has aroused some of the temperance workers of Quincy, who have signed a petition to Representatives Fallon and Freeman, hoping that the House would deal a death blow to the bill, as they already have to a similar bill this session.

The vote of Messrs. Fallon and Freeman in favor of the repeal of the semicolon bill were a surprise to their constituents. If there are any members of the House who should vote for temperance measures they are the Representatives from Quincy, a city which by popular vote has never voted for icenses for the sale of intoxicating

Quincy is not divided into Repreentative districts so that its Representatives are elected at large and represent the whole city. All the wards and all the precincts of Quincy, however, are against the sale of liquors at all times, and Representatives of Quincy should not vote for a law to legalize sales in Boston.

The time is too short for much work against the Hotel bill, which has been sprung by the Senate, but there is time for individual work if done at once, and there seems to be need of it right here n Quincy.

To sell liquor between 11 and 12 P. M. is more demoralizing than at any other hour. Theatre goers, especially women, should not be encouraged to visit hotels after the theatre.

French Socialist Press Urges Government to Take More Extreme Measures--Prince of Monaco Probably Started It

Paris, May 23.-The recall of M. Nisard, French ambassador to the Vatican, continues to be the absorbing topic. The ambassador is expected to arrive here today, when he will confer with Foreign Minister Delcasse and go over the details of the rupture between France and the Vatican preliminary to the meeting of the council of ministers tomorrow, when a further line of action will be determined upon.

Contrary to general expectations, Mgr. Lorenzelli, the papal nuncio at

The tone of the Socialist papers indicates that that powerful element has urged the government to take more extreme measures. Deputy Geralt Richard says in The Petit Republique that the matter must proceed until the concordat has been ended. M. Clemenceau, leave to Nisard as being wholly inadequate and says that it is a recall which does not recall and a rupture which does not rupture.

The Socialist paper, La Lanterne, omplains that the government has not fulfilled the promises made to the parliamentary leaders that a complete rupture would take place and declares that the leaving of a charge of affairs effect a complete withdrawal of the embassy and the embassy staff until-not even a cook remains.

The more moderate elements appear to be-satisfied with the course of the government, while the reactionary clerical papers express regret, with the exception of L'Autorite, which expresses satisfaction that the church declares open war against the republic. Little is heard directly of the senti-

A further reason why the note to the principality of sters. Monaco was more emphatic, it is said at the Vatican, was because Prince Albert was the friend of Captain Dreyfus, who had worked against the French government, and also because the clerico-nationalists were in accord with M. Jaures, the Socialist leader, who originated the present agitation.

It is said that Prince Albert was offended because the late Pope Leo at his last jubilee refused the Peter's pence sent by Monaco because the money had its source in gambling operations. The relations between Prince Albert and the

DESPERATION OF RUSSIA

So Tkickly In Pe Chi Li Gulf That They Drifted to Chinese Waters--Japan Wants Only That to Which She Is Entitled When War Is Over

London, May 23 .- The correspondent of The Times, on board that paper's steamer Haimum, which is still excluded from the real theatre of war, gives a review of the present position of affairs and says:

"Reserves from Japan are being brought to reinforce General Kuroki's lines of communication, which are being harrassed by Cossacks. General Kuroki appears to be waiting for the landing and co-operation of a third army. It was while holding the Miao Tao straits against torpedo attacks from Port Arthur for the passage of transports with the third army that the Hatsuse met with disaster.

"Realizing that they were effectively isolated, the Port Arthur Russians made their departure an excuse for sowing the whole Gulf of Pe Chi Li with floating blockade mines.

"It is reported that they sent the launches and junks to drop mines in the paths of the Japanese warships and transports. The mines drifted to the high seas and to Chinese waters, constituting the gravest danger to neutral shipping. Yesterday the Haimum passed two floating mines within six miles of Wei Hai Wei.

"Even as the act of a desperate garrison this must be in violation of the law of nations."

The Standard's corresponder at Tokio telegraphs: "Addressing a meeting of financiers on the importance of securing the sympathy of the civilized world in the present momentous crisis, Marquis Ito strongly urged the importance of Japan being contented to force her legitimate claims, never for a moment waving frank and broad-minded recognition of the legitimate claims and interests of other nations.

"The speech is considered significant as foreshadowing Japan's future policy with regard to Korea and Manchuria." locate:

$75 sition here for the past 10 days. Our advanced division is in touch with the enemy near Mao Tien pass, where the Liao Yang road traverses the defile. The Russian line extends from Hai Cheng to the west of Mao Tien pass."

thur garrison has not been confirmed. It appears, says the dispatch, to have originated in the receipt of Lieutenant General Stoessel's report of the fight at Kin Chau, this together with the fact that Stoessel commands at Port Arthur, giving rise to the rumor that the garrison had made a sortie.

FULL OF SALT WATER

Russian Battleship Stranded at Her Moorings at Cronstadt Cronstadt, May 23.—The battleship

Orel, which was brought here some days ago to receive her main battery and to be given the finishing touches before going into commission, suddenly sank at her anchorage on the night of May 20. Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, commander-in-chief of the Baltic squadron, was instantly called from St. Petersburg and under his supervision the work of pumping out and raising the Orel was begun.

The ship was raised Sunday and was found to be undamaged save that her interior was filled with salt water. An examination showed that her bilge valves had been opened, permitting the water to rush in. It is suggested that the carelessness of a workman might have been responsible for the opening of the valves, but an investigation into the affair is progressing.

While proceeding from Galerni island, St. Petersburg, where she was built, to Cronstadt, the Orel grounded in the Neva and was only hauled off with considerable trouble. Some of the plates in her hull were found to be damaged.

Russians Again In New Chwang New Chwang, May 23 .- The Russians are reoccupying this place with a fair force of artillery and mounted infantry. The disaster to the Japanese fleet is officially unknown here. The only information on the subject came from the Reuter Telegram company, whose dispatch was read to the troops on parade Sunday afternoon. The Russians are constructing slight entrenchments south of the town. Steamers from Chefoo report that they pass quantities of wreckage and it is supposed here that the Russians have been blowing up the obstructions at the entrance to Port Arthur.

Twenty-Five Japanese Killed Tokio, May 23 .- During the reconnoissance of Port Arthur made by Admiral Togo on Friday of last week a shell hit the torpedo boat destroyer Akatsuki, killing one officer and 24 men.

AN UNEXPECTED TEST

Railroad "Derail Switch" Proves Usefulness as a Life Saver

Bridgeport, Conn., May 24.-The successful working of a "derail switch" just east of a new drawbridge on the big viaduct in this city last night probably saved the lives of many passengers on a train. The bridge was up at the time, allowing a tugboat to do down the river, and Engineer Lyons of the passenger train disregarded the signal to stop. In a moment his engine, tender and baggage car were bounding over the ties, the train stopping not many yards from the bridge. But for the switch the train would have plunged into the river, as it was going at a fast pace when thrown off the tracks.

Passengers were shaken up and the women and children screamed, but when the train came to a stop it was found that no one was hurt. Over 200 passengers were on the train. The engine, tender and baggage car were wrecked and traffic on the west-bound track was blocked.

The test last night proved the worth of the derail switch, and it is understood that its institution has been recent. Last night's aecident makes the second on the new viaduct, the other being that of a freight train a few weeks ago.

Fine Horses Brought Fine Prices Readville, Mass., May 24.—Seventysix blooded horses, the entire complement of the famous racing stable and stock breeding farm of the late J. M. Forbes of Boston, were sold under the hammer at the trotting park here. The horses brought $116,450, or an average of $1,532.23. The highest price of the day, $32,000, was commanded by Bingen, the first animal sold. Bingen is a brown stallion with a mark of 2:06 1-4. He is 11 years old. Arthur H. Parker of Bedford was the successful bidder. Nancy Hanks, the famous mare that at one time held the world's record, was knocked down to J. M. Johnson, mayor of Calais, Me., for $4000.

Unhurt by Ninety-Foot Fall New Milford, Conn. May 24.—Falling headlong from a bridge 90 feet above the Housatonic river at Still River station, John Polanis, 7 years old, escaped death almost miraculously. The boy was playing on the edge of the bridge when he lost his balance. His fall was checked by the top of a tree 60 feet below the bridge and he slid through the branches to the ground unharmed, save for bruises. Will Help Entertain Filipinos

OIL PIPE LINES.

Ingenious Device by Which the Long Tubes Are Cleaned.

The long pipes that carry crude petroleum from the oil wells to the refineries many miles distant are cleaned by an ingenious device. A writer in the Omaha Daily Bee describes it: As the oil flows through these underground conduits some of the paraffin in the fluid incrusts the sides of the pipes and proves a serious hindrance to the free passage of the current of oil. The device that is used to remedy this evil is a knife about two feet in length, with a sharp edge, constructed like the thread of a screw; indeed, the knife resembles a huge headless screw. It is, of course, slightly smaller than the pipe through which it is to pass. When the thickness of the crust of paraffin renders a cleansing necessary this instrument is inserted in the pipe at the oil fields. The pressure of the stream of oil drives it forward, revolving rapidly as it hurries along and scraping the channel clean. It turns and twists and cleanses in this manner throughout its whole journey and finally drops from the pipe in the midst of the vast stream of petroleum that empties into the recelving tanks. Its edges are duller than when it set out on its journey, but otherwise it is in perfect condition.

OLD STAGERS KICK

Opposed to Cortelyou as Head of National Committee

$75 THEY WILL GAIN NOTHING

President Has Implicit Faith In Man He Has Chosen, Though He Has Not Been Trained to Politics as a Trade

Washington, May 24.-The politicians are in the saddle for a fight upon Cortelyou as chairman of the Republican national committee. Not one of the old stagers, as far as heard from, has had a word to say in his favor. All the rely coupled with an assurance that the protesting person has no fault to find with Mr. Cortelyou as a man or a public officer, or in any capacity except that of manager of a great campaign for a great party. Champions of various western corners, as usual. New England men who profess to be "on the inside of things," are less demonstrative in their declaration that the chance of a lifetime was lost when Senator Gallinger was passed over.

The Jerseymen wanted Franklin Murphy and the New Yorkers-those, at least, who worship the rising sunwanted Odell, who would have then had his hat so full of feathers that it would have made him stagger. The Pennsylvanians wanted Penrose, and Platt Philadelphia ...... 1 probably would have preferred him to Odell if faced with a choice. It is hard to find a machine in any part of the country which was not almost stopped running by the shock of the news that St. Louis ...... 4 8 Cortelyou was the coming man. There is not the slightest likelihood that the president will change his mind, and Cortelyou is too much of a man to let himself be forced out against the president's will. Both he and the president recognize his limitations in the matter of ac quaintance with the petty details of politics. But as it is a "new dea" to have a vice president nominated for president by his own party, the American public are likely to be treated to a "new deal" in having a man installed in the chairmanship who has not been trained to politics as a trade.

Another theory has been advanced which may have some serious ground to rest npou. President Rossevelt has 'gone halves" with the "organization" whenever that has been practicable, picking his own man for one place and giving the machine its man somewhere else, but trying to sort the places so that the machine men, if personally decent, could run their share without giving offence to their fellow-citizens. A Sharkev in the custom house was balanced by a Williams in charge at Ellis island. A machine man in the naval office at Chicago, a professional veteran in the office of register of wills for this district, and other similar appointments were offset by a canal con lected without the remotest reference to politics and in defiance of the regular office-seekers' brigade.

In connection with the campaign to be waged in the fall, if the machine were o have control of the nominating and chief seconding speeches-which might be good or bad, but could tie the candidate in any way-it seemed only fair that the candidate should have a free hand in choosing the chairman and chief manager of his canvass, in whose power it would be to embarass him fearfully. It is still vividly remembered here that with fervency a certain Republican president "thanked God" QUINCY, MASS. aloud, as he sent a noisome nomination to the senate, that "that was the last I. O. U. of the campaign with Matt. Quay's indorsement on it."

So Cortelyou it is, and Cortelyou it will be, unless the heavens fall. It might have been such man as Murray Crane of Massachusetts, if his strength and his will had both been equal to it. man of the president's own type, in whom he could have implicit faith, and humble citizen. who would not do in the heat of a campaign what he would not dare confess to the president's best friends afterward. The professional politicians would not have been better satisfied with any of Cortelyou's possible alternates than they are with Cortelyou himself-if that is any satisfaction to them.

Odell Would Not Talk Politics

"How about Porter for gubernatorial candidate?" was the next question. "I have nothing to say; I am not talking about him," answered the governor. "In fact I believe in the policy of silence."

FRANCE AND VATICAN Rupture Between State and

Church Becomes More Acute Paris, May 24.-It is announced that M. Nisard, former ambassador of France to the holy see, has been recalled in the full sense of the diplomatic term, the French government having given up its first plan to give him indefinite leave of absence. The rupture is further emphasized by the determination of France to withdraw M. DeNavanne, its minister at the Vatican. When the rupture was first decided upon it was the intention to conof affairs, for the purpose of transacting routine business. M. DeNavenne understood that DeNavenne's apparent defense of the Vatican's course has contributed to the decision that he shall not return.

Rome, May 24.-Information received by the Vatican authorities indicates that the situation growing out of the papal protest against President Loubet's visit to Rome and the recall of Ambassador Nisard has assumed a more satisfactory phase. The Vatican understands that the government, unless compelled by action of the chamber of deputies, practically intends to allow the matter of Cardinal Merry del

Houghs Neck Electrics. Editors of the Ledger:

Was pleased to note the comments in Monday's Ledger relative to the un necessary delays on the Houghs Neck route. I was a passenger on Sunday on one of the afternoon trips to Quincy. I not only lost my train to Boston, but was 35 to 40 minutes in making the trip from Houghs Neck to Quincy. It seems unreasonable to expect that cars can make the trip from the Manet avenue turnout to Quincy and return about six miles, while the other cars are going from the same turnout to Houghs Neck and return, about two miles.

If cars are to be run on time, and make good time, they should pass on the double track, which extends from the Fost Island road to the residence of Mr. Dennen on the Adams farm. There would then be very few delays.

Prediction That Parker Will Receive Nomination

THE NEW YORK QUARREL

Murphy and McCarren Will Get Together Before Convention --Bryan Will Fall In Line and Support the Ticket

New York, May 25.-Thomas Taggart, member of the Democratic national committee from Indiana, who is likely to succeed ex-Senator Jones as Holt, at 2 P. M. chairman of the committee, came to New York to see Judge Parker and the Democratic state leaders and make arrangements for expanding the Parker boom. Taggart put Parker instructions through the Indiana state convention, and he is in high favor with New York's candidate and his managers. Last evening he met Cord Meyer, chairman of the Democratic state committee and William F. Sheehan. Later he called on Judge Parker at Esopus After his talk with Meyer, Taggart made this statement regarding the sit

"It is as certain as anything can be In polities that Parker will be nominated. Indiana has instructed for him, Minnesota will instruct, Wisconsin will be for Parker after casting a compli mentary vote for Wall and other western states will quickly fall in line. The solid south is for New York's candidate so I cannot see how his nomination can be prevented. It looks now as if he will be nominated on the first ballot The talk about Indiana being for Mc Clellan as a compromise candidate is nonsense. Parker is our first choice we have no second choice.

"The Democrats of the west are not corrying about the factional fight in this state. They believe that Charles F. Murphy and his Tammany followers are all good Democrats, and that when Parker is nominated they will accept the verdict of the convention, and sup port him heartily. Moreover, I have good reasons to believe that the New York factions will get together before they go to St. Louis. Murphy and Me Carren are broadminded politician and they are not going to let their lit tle local troubles stand in the way of he success of the national ticket.

"As to Bryan, he will make his figh in the convention and will then fall in line and support the ticket. He has always stood for party regularity and he cannot change his position now. The Kansas City platform will not be reaffirmed, you can put that down as made up of only the live issues of the day. Just a word now about the asser tions of some friends of Bryan that Parker was for McKinley in 1896. Parker not only supported Bryan in 1896 but contributed to the party cam paign fund. There is no reason, therefore, why any Bryanite should oppose him on the ground of irregularity."

Ex-Mayor McGuire of Syracuse, who managed the campaign in this state in 1900 and who is now a Parker man, is not so sanguine as Taggart. After a call on Mayor McClellan at the city hall he said: "I have just returned Quincy, Mass. from the west. I do not find much Parker sentiment out there. The radical sentiment still rules in the west and it will be felt in the national convention. Still I believe that Parker can be southern delegates. At all events, that is the only way he can be nominated.'

Ohio Democracy's Muddle Columbus, O., May 25 .- The preliminary meetings of the Democratic state convention have demonstrated that the conservatives are in control, two to one in opposition to Hearst, but divided among themselves on presidential preferences for James Kilbourne of Columbus and Judge Harmon of Cincinnati. Neither "the old guard," known as the conservatives, nor the "Hearst-Bryan-Johnson" men, known as the radicals, have a feader. Mayor Johnson of Cleveland, who has been the recognized leader in his party in Ohio for the past two years, has been unable to control the votes of the two state committeemen from his own city. While there is no leader on the ground, there is much comment that the old following of John R. McLean is again in control.

Depew on "Practical Politics" New Haven, May 25 .- Senator Depew addressed the Political club of the Yale law school last evening on "Practical Politics." He urged it as a duty upon educated young men to go into practical politics, but not to become office holders. Office holding, he said, should not be desired until the man who has a taste for public life has acquired a competency or has started a business so well that it can sustain $125 itself.

Memorial Day Exercises to be New Bill Provides More for Justices and Clerks.

The bill was engrossed in the House made the following detail of comrades on Tuesday to establish the salaries of of police, district and municipal courts High school,-Charles H. Porter and outside of Boston. The bill divides the courts into ten classes.

The district court at Quincy would be in Class E, population from 50,000 Coddington,-Elijah S. Brown and to 60,000, and the salary of Judge Avery would be $2,500. The salary of the clerks to be three-fourths of that of the judge would be $1875.

The last census showed a population of 56,762 in the district, which includes John Hancock, - S. De Forest and Quincy, Milton, Braintree, Randolph, Holbrook Weymouth and Cohasset.

The next census in 1905 is sure to show a population of over 60,000 so that the salary of the judge would be increased to $2,750, and the salary of Quincy,-A. H. Maxwell and James the clerk to $2,163.

The present salary of the justice of the East Norfolk district court is $1,500 and the clerk receives $1,000. The general opinion seems to be that Judge Avery is entitled to an increase. He gives liberally of his time, and is a careful painstaking official. There has been no criticism of his administration of the court, and he saves Norfolk county considerable expense.

NEW COTTAGES.

A Large Number Building at Houghs Neck This Season.

There has been an unusual amount of Sanders, 2b., building at Houghs Neck this year and Davenport, 3b., s.s., a large number of new cottages have Shortle, l. f., been added to the summer colony. In addition to the new cottages, the Orake, c.,

Quincy Yacht club is building a large addition to its club house which is well under way and will be completed early McLaughlin, s.s., next month.

The steamboat company is also erecting a large building at the shore end of its wharf. It is 40 by 40 and will conain a ticket office and waiting room, freight office and a store.

War on Mosquitoes.

Brookline has began its annual campaign against the mosquito. Early last week employes of the board of health began to sprinkle petroleum in the catch basins and other places known to be breeding places of malarial infecting mosquitoes and notices were sent to property owners upon whose grounds there are stagnant pools likely to be infested with the pest, to use the petroleum method of exterminating them. Many of the property owners so notified have taken steps to stamp out the pests and it is expected that others will follow their example. The town has appropriated $15,000 for the work, but this will no more than take care of the mosquito haunts on public property. It is proposed in case any property owner does not folow the direction of the board of health to have the board of health petroleumize his place and charge the expense to him. Last year the mosquitoes were such a nuisance in some sections of the town that it was impossible to sit on the piazzas at night, but it is thought that the early beginning of the crusade against them this year will mitigate the nuisance and materially reduce the danger of infection from malaria.

Sung by Mother Goose and Illustrated by Stereopticon.

The attendance at the Mother Goose ntertainment at Quincy Music hall on Tuesday afternoon was rather a disappointment to the management, but it was a charming entertainment, for most children enjoy the nursery rhymes of old Mother Goose.

It was a stereopticon show enlivened by the presence of Mother Goose, Mrs. Hubbard and Johnny Hubbard. Mother Goose was impersonated by Mrs. Heath, formerly a member of a Wollaston quartette, and it was a pleasure to hear her sing several of the nursery rhymes.

Johnny Hubbard made things interesting by his childish pranks and comments on the pictures. He told what the letters of the alphabet stood for, etc. Quincy High defeated Weymouth _ Mrs. Hubbard told several stories children.

> The program of an hour concluded with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Senate bill 77, which is now before us asking for a registry of deeds that the registry of deeds building be removed to the city of Brockton.

At the numerous hearings which were held upon both these petitions the committee of counties endeavored to deal fairly with both parties. At the hearings of which there were three, the chairman asked those in favor of having the registry of deeds building remain at Plymouth to be recorded, and there were 18 in its favor; he also asked that the people desiring the registry of corded, and there were 18 in number

The committee visited Plymouth as well as Breckton, and in executive session of the 11 members, 10 being present, it was unanimously voted to allow the registry of deeds building to remain at Plymouth, and that a branch registry should be accorded Brockton. * * * * * *

The other reason is this-there is a bad feeling between the town of Plymouth and the city of Brockton at the present time, and should we allow this bill to become a law, the bad feeling which now exists between the town of Plymouth and the city of Brockton would continue from the present genertion to generations to come.

NOT IN SYMPATHY

Boston Freight Handlers Have No Intention of Striking

REMEMBER AN OLD SCORE

Men Now on Strike Refused Aid to Boston Men at Time of the Teamsters' Strike and Consequent Ill Feeling Is Retained

Boston, May 26.-James Donovan, naster workman of assembly 639, Knights of Labor, the organization composed of freight handlers in this vicinity, says that there is absolutely no chance of the freight handlers in the local sheds of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad declaring a strike in sympathy with the New York men who are out.

Mr. Donovan said that as yet the strikers in New York have not asked the Boston freight handlers to declare a sympathetic strike, and even if such a request should be made the local freight handlers would not grant it. Furthermore, the local freight handlers will move any and all freight that comes pany and they are well able to bear this to Boston from New York, regardless of how it is handled on the New York end of the line.

As matters stand at present there is considerable ill-feeling between the local freight handlers, who are affiliated with the Knights of Labor, and the striking freight handlers in New York, who are a part of the American Federation of Labor. This ill-feeling dates from the time of the teamsters strike in this city, about two years ago. At that time the freight handlers struck in sympathy with the teamsters, and union freight handlers from New York and other points along the railroad who were not connected with the Knights of Labor came to Boston and handled the freight that the local mer refused to touch. Now that the union freight handlers connected with the federation desire assistance in their fight against the railroad the loca Knights of Labor are not disposed to aid them in any way.

In speaking of the strike, Donovar sald: "It would be carrying things too far for the striking freight handlers in New York, Fall River and Providence to ask us to go out in sympathy with them at the present stage of affairs There is no excuse for them asking us to strike until after the engineers, fire convenient to carry. Softens the beard men and crews on the trains carrying quickly and makes shaving so easy; no the 'unfair' freight have been called smarting or burning. Sold by all drug- out.'

Shippers in this city have been informed by the New York, New Haver and Hartford railroad that for the present no freight for New York and vicinity will be accepted. What the road can do later will be announced from day to day. Many of the local shippers have arranged to send freight to the metropolis by steamer direct.

Strikers In Angry Mood

Fall River, Mass., May 26.-Aroused at the sight of foreigners engaged as strike breakers, an angry crowd gathered at the docks of the Fall River ine last night and made a demon stration against 25 Portuguese who had taken the places of the striking freight handlers of the New Haven road. When the steamer Priscilla sailed for New York, union sympathizers followed the new workmen from the pier, taunting, jeering at and threatening them. Prominent union men however, succeeded in restraining the angry ones and the crowd began to disperse just as a squad of police eached the scene. So intense was the feeling manifested against the strike breakers that at one time only a leader seemed to be needed to start a riot.

Italians For Providence Sheds Providence, May 26 .- About the only development in the freight strike here was the arrival from Boston of a party of about 40 Italians who are to be put to work at the outward bound freight sheds. The going out on strike is You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate termed by others as being rather too precipitate, as it is claimed President Curran merely told them to use their discretion in the matter. Curran Denies Calling Strike New York, May 26.-L. J. Curran,

The second trial of the Bartlett case began Tuesday and the evidence brought out by the prosecution was to the effect that young Bartlett was suffering from diphtheria and Sandford, whose authority over the members of he society in Shiloh was absolute, not only refused to summon medical aid for the boy, but made him fast. It was also said by witnesses for the prosecution that Sandford had expressed a wish to see the boy dead. This was denied by garding the fast imposed upon the sick

Washington, May 27.-An enigmatic query reaches this city, whether there Donovan and Stovell. Attendance freight is being shipped to New Engis any truth in the report that Presi- 3921. dent Roosevelt "agrees to accept any tee?" It would be easier to answer if it were known to what committee this president purposes to accommodate himself to the committee's wishes. The only case this report seems to fit in any way is one where, several months ago, a deputation from the American Bankers' association called upon the president to ascertain what he was New York ...... 5 8 willing to do in the way of recommending legislation for the furtherance of the security and prosperity of American banking. He bade them procure a consensus of opinion among the repreincluding all the geographical and political sections, and whatever they agreed upon he would recommend to 4255. congress. No such plan was presented in time for recommendation at the late session, but the promise doubtless still holds good.

As for the Republican platform, there is likely to be a rather stiff fight between some of the persons engaged to draft the financial plank, over the question whether to review the events of the past and stop there, or make a general promise, like that which will be incorporated in the tariff plank-that the party will continue to adapt its policy to the changing needs of business as Haverhill ...... 1 they arise-or to make some direct suggestions for the future action of congress. # ALL GORMAN'S WAY

cratic state convention here adopted a platform and elected delegates to the St. Louis convention. The platform adopted by the convention admittedly embodies Senator Gorman's opinion of what the national platform should be. It is confined to national issues and practically endorses the line of action followed by the Democratic steering committee during the late session of congress. It calls for moderate tariff revision, independence for the Filipino, economy in expenditures and full investigation of all alleged crookedness in the postoffice and other government departments and severely criticises the present administration.

As to the Panama canal it says that "while accepting the result of the negotiations conducted by President Roosevelt, we cannot lose sight of the disturbing fact that the methods under which the territory was acquired were in deflant disregard of law and treaty obligations toward a sister republic, too weak to resist the ungenerous action of our government." The president is denounced "for flagrant encroachments upon the rightful powers and independence of congress and, while amazed at the subfreedom deserves and should receive the | ships. indignant rebuke and condemnation of the people.

The delegation to St. Louis was not instructed except to vote as a unit, this course being followed at the request of Gorman, the convention being plainly in the humor to instruct for him.

FIFTY CENTS A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month-a few drops in its bottle each time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return of health and comfort.

Babies that are given Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful action. It seems to contain just the elements of nourishment a baby needs most. Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment; Scott's Emulsion always supplies it. Imitations always cost less than the original, hence the substitutes for Scott's Emulsion can be sold for a few cents less. But you're not saving anything when you buy them. Cod liver oil has a market value and you get the pure oil in Scott's Emulsion. That's the difference.

CROWS AND ROOKS.

There Are Many Points of Difference Between These Birds.

Scientifically corvus is the generic title of the bird family which includes crows, rooks, ravens and jackdaws. A main distinction between crows and rooks is that black and gray crows, which are found always in pairs, are migrants, retreating southward with the advance of winter, while rooks are gregarious and remain where they have been in the habit of nesting. Crows, too, are carrion eaters, while rooks, though fond of grubs and worms, will advisable to regard it with reserve, not touch dead things unless driven to pending official confirmation.

In October, 1902, it was found that a pretty monument of Quincy granite could be secured and set for $2000, and a contract was soon made.

Through the efforts of Mayor Greene and Senator Galliger, condemned guns have been obtained from the Navy yard. The lot has been graded, cement foundations for the guns and shells have been put in, an iron railing placed around the monument and a walk made from the sidewalk to the railing. It will be an attractive spot.

No Change In Illinois

Washington, May 27 .- Senator Cul lom and Representative Foss of Illinois had talks with the president last evening on the Illinois political situation. Both expressed confidence that, while no material change in the situation apparently had taken place since the convention took a recess, a satisfactory solution of the problem would be reached.

CAPTURE OF KIN CHOU

Russians Are Completely Routed and Almost Impregnable Position on Nanshan Hill Occupied by Japs After Facing Deadly Rifle and Cannon Fire--Russian Military Prestige Suffers a Severe Blow and Early Investment of Port Arthur Is Indicated

London, May 28.—The Tokio press dispatch and Japanese official accounts are the only detailed descriptions that have yet reached London of the brilliant Japanese victory at Kin Chou, which is hailed by the London press as establishing an even stronger claim than did the Japanese operations on the Yalu river to their superiority on land as well as by sea, since, in the case of Kin Chou, the Russians had ample time to carefully prepare their posi-

But the left flank, toward the Liao Tung gulf, was not fortified and was held only by the fugitive defenders of Kin Chou. Here the Japanese struck, and in spite of determined resistance they seem to have thrown down the first substantial barrier between the isthmus and Port Arthur.

It appears that the conclusive victory was immediately followed up, for The Morning Post's Tokio correspondent asserts that the Japanese have swept the Russians from their defenses west of the Evans family maintain that the vis-Talienwan. And if The Daily Telegraph's generally well informed correspondent is correct, and the Japanese already are nearing Port Arthur, the Russians must have suffered a complete rout at Kin Chou. That this is the case would also appear from rumors of the capture of Russian artillery. Reports received at Tokio indicate that the storming of Nashan hill on Thursday was a bloody affair. The Japanese first centred their fire on the Russian batteries, in which work they were aided by four gunboats from Kin Chou bay. They succeeded in silencing many of the enemy's guns.

The Russians had constructed a series of trenches around the hill on a terrace protected by wire entanglements and other such devices. The Japanese made a series of rushes, but they were in vain. The deadly rifle and cannon fire of the enemy checked them repeatedly.

Finally, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. the Japanese reformed and stormed the crest of the hill. The Russians held to their position doggedly and it was 7 c'clock in the evening before the Japanese finally gained possession of the

A Japanese officer of high rank made the following statement: "The Japanese, in attacking Kin Chou and Nanshan hill, had to fight against great odds. The Russians were in full command of the strategical advantages afforded by nature and these advantages were augmented by the newest inventions for The forts on Nanshan hill were armed with heavy guns. The Japanese had only field guns, heavy guns being unavailable on account of the difficulties of transportation.

"Our army deserves great credit for having driven the Russians from this stronghold. It was a feat previously considered to have been impossible. I fear our losses have been heavy, but barring our way to the investment of Port Arthur."

A dispatch to The Central News from the fighting at Kin Chou are said to be 12,000 men killed. It is said that these figures have been confirmed by an official dispatch. Fighting, it is added, is still going on in the vicinity of Kin Chou.

The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says he learns that the Japanese troops are now within 12 miles of Port Arthur and that the Russians suffered heavier casualties than the Japanese, who have taken guns and other material and a few prisoners. He predicts a further surprise, as Japan is now increasing her efforts in all direc-

Port Arthur Siege on In Earnest St. Petersburg, May 28.-The news of the Japanese victory at Kin Chou which was foreshadowed several days ago by the rumors of persistent fighting there, was published on a Russian holiday, the anniversary of the coronation of Emperor Nicholas. Curiously enough the news of the Japanese disaster afloat came on a similar holiday, the emperor's birthday. While High water-11:15 a.m.; 11:30 p.m. there was little information in government circles regarding the Russian de- England.

All the news of the disaster to the Russian arms comes from foreign sources and the government is making no effort to minimize or to suppress it. The authorities are absolutely without news of their own.

The general staff, in view of the foreign news of the capture of Kin Chou, admitted that there was little now to hinder a Japanese advance on Port Arthur itself and that the actual siege of the Gibraltar of the east had now begun in earnest. The staff insists, however, on the ability of the fortress to

MADMAN IN COURT

Terrified Spectators, but Failed to Move the Jury

Chicago, May 28.-Choking and gasping, and with eyes rolling, John Mahnken, accused of fraudulently identifying the body of Mrs. Frank R. Greenwald, an Iroquois theatre fire victim, in order to steal her money, suddenly jumped to his feet in the court room and pointed frantically at an imaginary spectre, which he thought stood confronting him. While the spectators looked on in terror, the man frothed at the lips and waved his arms wildly. He was overpowered and thrown to the floor, where it took half dozen police officers to hold him. Paroxysm after paroxysm shook him and he had to be manacled and re-

When quiet was finally restored Mahnken's lawyer decided to let the case go to the jury without argument. Almost immediately the jury returned a verdict of "guilty." If the insanity was feigned it failed to move the jury. The technical charge against Mahnken was perjury and it was proved that the end of the small peninsula between | wald from a morgue and had it buried Hand and Junk bays. The strongest as his aunt. His motive was to gain possession of the $400 found on the

The Game of War

NE day while Federal and Confederate were playing at the game, of war in the Shenandoah valley General Early made his way on foot along the crest of Massinutton mountain until he could look down into the Federal camp. He could count the guns, note the defenses and get the lay of the ground. Cedar creek runs along the base of the mountain, and Early determined to march an army along the banks of that creek. There was not even a hunter's trail, and the side of the mountain was dense with timber and underbrush, while the march must be made under cover of darkness.

All difficulties were overcome, however. Thousands of men entered the forest at sundown and made their way along foot by foot as silently as possible. Early morning found them drawn up in battle lines in front of Crook's division.

Shortly before daylight a heavy mist rose from the ground, and this was a lucky thing for Early. Under cover of the mist he advanced his lines nearer and nearer until at one spot his men could hear the Federals talking to each other in their tents as they woke from sleep. A few bluecoats were stirring about and rebuilding the campfires when there was a sudden crash of musketry all along the front, and next moment the Confederate lines were sweeping through the camps.

There was no panic in Crook's command. It was surprise instead of panic. Every Confederate looked to be a man seven feet tall in that mist, and their advent was too sudden to create a panic. There was a rush for the rear as fast as men could roll out of their tents. Crook's camps were cleared in ten minutes. The Confederates did very little firing after the first two or three volleys. They captured men instead of shooting them down. As they got possession of the artillery, however, they opened on all the camps in rear, and by this time the fugitives had sowed the seeds of panic. Emory lay behind Crook, and his men had time to dress and turn out, but there was no holding them. Fugitives came running and shouting, and veterans of a dozen fights were knocked out in a trice.

Instead of dodging the tents and campfires, the fugitives leaped over them and scattered them about. The panic soon spread back to the Sixth corps, which was in rear of all, and only diplomacy saved the men from rout. They were ordered forward to check the enemy and cover the retreat, and action saved them. When the great mass of fugitives had reached Middletown, five miles away, they began to grow ashamed of themselves and to halt. Soon there was a clamor to be led back against the enemy.

The trouble was that nine men out of ten had left their arms in camp or thrown them away in the flight, and so had nothing to fight with. Of 200 who "fell in" on the main street of the village and called for an officer to lead them, only twelve had carbines or muskets. Had Early continued to push along he must have made a complete rout of it. His orders were to advance. but his men fell out by hundreds to plunder the Union camps, and by and by he was so weak that the Sixth corps alone could hold him. From 10 o'clock in the morning till 3 in the afternoon the broken regiments were formed of men who hadn't a gun to fire. Sheridan came up soon after 10 and began to straighten things out, and at 3 the whole army moved forward.

The fighting did not last half an hour, and as Early broke back it was a panic over again, but this time on the other side. The Federals took prisoners by the hundreds, recaptured every lost gun, and the Confederate wagon and ammunition trains, which had come down the valley by the highways, also fell into their hands. The fleeing Confederates fairly clogged the highway against pursuit with the stuff they threw away, and muskets, carbines, sabers, knapsacks and other stores were gathered up by the wagon load.

HISTORIC ARLINGTON.

Largest of the National Cemeteries Maintained by the Government.

Arlington is the foremost among the national cemeteries of the country. On the 1st of July, 1902, there were buried there the bodies of 18,962 soldiers of the civil war. Of these graves 14,351 were marked with the names of their occupants, while 4,611 were unknown. This number of graves is over 2,000 greater than is found in any other national cemetery in the country, the next largest being at Vicksburg, Miss., where 16,778 soldiers are interred. In the eighty-three national cemeteries there are buried over 345,000 soldiers and sailors, nearly 152,-000 of the graves being "unknown," and 9,000 of them being the graves of Confederates,

It is toward the gates of beautiful Arlington, then, that the old boys in blue bend their steps to assist once again in the deeply touching ceremony of strewing with flowers the graves of those who fell on the battlefields of Virginia, some of which are almost within view of this lovely spot.

The Arlington estate was famous for its beauty and as being the home of the Custis and Lee families long before it became the home of the "army of the dead." As is well known, it was inherited by the Custis children, and under the prudent care of Washington the value of the estate was greatly enhanced. Upon the marriage of young Custis and his departure from Mount Vernon he took possession of the estate and there erected the fine old mansion that crowns the hill on the south bank of the Potomac and commands a magnificent view of the Potomac, the Washington monument and all of the principal buildings of the Capital City. Custis lived here happily until his death in 1857, soon after which his only surviving child, Mary Randolph Custis, became the wife of her old time playmate, Robert Edward Lee. They lived on the estate until the breaking out of the civil

Two hundred of the 1,200 acres have been set aside as a national cemetery, the grounds being surrounded by a low wall with entrances through four gates, the McClellan, the Fort Myer, the Ord and Weitzel, and the main (Sheridan) gates. Near by is the new grave of General Lawton, a hero of the Spanish-American war. West of the mansion are the graves of the white soldiers, and east of it are those of the colored soldiers who fought in the ranks of the Union army. In another part of the grounds lie the sailors from the wrecked Maine, and the spot where 957 victims of the Spanish-American war lie is marked by a beautiful memorial.—Leslie's Weekly.

Heroes at Arlington. Bring them home, the nation's dead; Bring them home to Arlington! Softly through the green aisles tread, There mute sorrow's tribute shed, There let low voiced prayers be said, There in sunny Arlington!

Some in civil strife were slain, Martyrs of the good ship Maine, Fallen, some, on tropic plain. Bring, oh, bring them home again!

Lavish there a nation's pride. Still and sacred Arlington! There, enshrouded side by side, Pulseless forms fore'er abide 'Neath the sod of Arlington!

Meet it is that they should rest There in tranquil Arlington! Naught they know when duty pressed, But to die at her behest.

Now 'neath skies they loved the best Comrades meet in Arlington! And today let bugle sound

Through the shades of Arlington! Strew with blooms each grassy mound, Let the roses red abound, And the stars and stripes around. Float fore'er, sweet Arlington!

Exciting Car Ride of Some of "Fighting Joe" Hooker's Men.

"I was with Hooker," said a plump and cheerful veteran to a group at department headquarters - "I was with Hooker when he entered Chattanooga to the relief of Rosecrans. My regiment left Nashville on a train over the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road, and when we reached the foot of Cumberland mountain, near a little station called Decherd, we had to lie flat on the bottom of the car to escape the shower of bullets which the Confederates rained down upon the car from their position high up the mountain side.

"When we reached the foot of Lookout mountain the Confederates bombarded the train from their batteries situated on the summit of that mountain, and for a time shells whistled through the air thick and fast, dropping, exploding and tearing up the ground on every side, although, fortunately, none of them struck the train, the marksmanship of the gunners be-

"While this was in progress one of our men became so frightened that he fainted. He was a raw recruit who came to us just before we started from Indiana. The engagement at Decherd had completely unnerved him, and when he saw the shells falling he just keeled over and lay like dead from sheer fright."-Washington Post.

"ORRINE," A SAFE, SURE AND HARMLESS SPECIFIC

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestica and ruining the health. No "will power" can heal the inflamed stomach membranes. "ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary; "ORRINE can be taken at your own home without publicity. Can be given secretly if desired

Deputies Approve Recall of Ambassador to Vatican

POPE'S TEMPORAL POWER

Rejection of "Superannuated Fiction" Which Disappeared Thirty Years Ago--Extremists Wanted Concordat Dissolved

Paris, May 28.-After an exciting debate, in which Premier Combes and Foreign Minister Delcasse set forth the action and purpose of the government towards the Vatican, the chamber of deputies, by an overwhelming | prepared. vote, approved the course of the government in recalling M. Nisard, ambassador to the Vatican, and rejected all propositions of the extreme element for an immediate dissolution of the relations between church and state. The vote approving the action of the government was 427 to 95.

A resolution inviting the government to negotiate with Pope Pius for a separation of church and state was defeated by 507 to 18. A motion to break off all relations with the Vatican and denounce the concordat, was defeated by 385 to 146.

Premier Combes took the initiative in resisting all efforts to force the government to extreme action and his request that all questions regarding the separation of church and state go over until next January has the effect of postponing separation beyond the present session of parliament.

The debate attracted unusual attention and great crowds were present, including Ambassador Porter and other members of the diplomatic corps.

The principal speeches were those of Premier Combes and M. Delcasse. The premier said the holy see, in a document hurtful to France, had denounced to which it alieged the head of the French state had inflicted upon it by returning, in the indisputed capital of his kingdom, the visit received from the King of Italy and by refusing to admit the claim of the ultramontaine to prerogatives represented as untenable, The government had answered this document by immediately recalling the ambassador to the Vatican.

speech retraced the history of the question from the spring of 1903, when the papal nuncio asked questions concerning the eventuality of President Loubet visiting Rome, to which Delcasse replied that he could not furnish the information. Coming to the immediate cause of the rupture, he said that a Parisian paper published the text of the papal note as addressed to other powers, which was couched in terms of remonstrance which the French government could not accept. The government's duty was clear as soon as the authenticity of the document had been proved. Three courses were open-to grant the ambassador leave, to recall him or to suppress the embassy. The first seemed inadequate, the third was excessive and so the government decided on the second.

M. Nisard was instructed, if he found the note to be authentic or if an explanation regarding it should be refused, he was to quit Rome immediately. The ambassador notified the foreign office that the papal secretary of state said he wanted the question Put in while you wait. "The government did what the dignity of the country required and with the necessary promptitude," said Delcasse, "and we have right and opinion of the whole world on our side."

Munroe's Pet Blow

Will the Miner Land It on Jeffries In Their Battle June 17?

Jack Munroe, the miner pugilist who is to fight Jim Jeffries for the world's heavyweight championship title June 17, has a terrible punch that promises to be worth its weight in gold to him. It is a crusher—the right fist hurled in igainst body or short ribs with all of the big fellow's weight behind it. The man it lands on will either drop to the floor or hang on to Munroe and clinch for dear life. That's what Tom Sharkey did when Jack put it on him, and even Tom's desperate clinching didn't save him.

Every member of the aristocracy of fighters has his own distinctive, char-

In order to become notable-worthy of a place in the history of the ring-the punch must be simple, fierce and a winner of victories. All these qualities are present in the blow now made popular by the good natured miner of Butte, Mont. Munroe's manner of bringing his pet punch into play is worthy of respectful study. He is a calm, smiling giant, who does nothing on impulse or at hapnazard. The wily Kid McCoy while training Munroe for the match with Sharkey early discovered that right and punch by running his ribs against t. When he got his breath back he inrited Munroe to try it again. Jack ried and landed.

"Fine!" said McCoy. "It won't take nany of those to put Tom Sharkey out of business." And thereafter every day McCoy had Munroe practice that paricular pet punch hundreds of times, McCoy imitated Sharkey's rushes and swings, and Munroe did the rest. On the night of the battle Sharkey rushed in, swinging both arms with awful rapidity. Munroe was not quite ready. Tom's right fist caught him in a full swing on the jaw. Down dropped Munroe like a log, but in a few seconds his remarkable vitality asserted itself and at the count of nine he arose smiling and squared himself to renew the fray.

Again Sharkey rushed in, wildly swinging those fists whose impact can crush stone. Munroe was ready this time. The knockdown had awakened his fighting instinct.

As Sharkey plunged forward Munroe darted in to meet him, sheltering his hair. She does not dye her hair to face and neck behind his bent left arm. match her frocks. It is hard for an unprejudiced mind to see how Munroe can overcome all these advantages. Nevertheless, it is certain he will go into the ring calm and confident. The battle will be a struggle of wonderful giants. It ought to be the most thrilling fight ever seen in the ring.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

They Have Been a Potent Factor In

Forming Public Opinion. Even without the personal enlightenment that counts for so much women's elubs have been a potent factor in determining public opinion. As organizations they have realized that "in public opinion we are all legislators by our birthright." And in practice they have found that they could actually egislate by means of this power. Legslative work is undertaken by all the state federations in urging and securing the passage of laws that deal with the conditions of women and children. In Massachusetts, Connecticut and Illinois the state federations have promoted the passage of a bill giving joint and equal parental guardianship to inor children.

The juvenile court law has been seured in California, Illinois, Maryland and Nebraska. The Louisiana federation has worked successfully for the probationary law, and in Texas an industrial school has been established. Laws to raise the standard of public morality, to segregate and classify defective and delinquent classes, to secure the services of women as factory inspectors, police matrons and on boards of control, are other measures for which women's clubs have successfully worked.-Mrs. Martha E. D. White in Atlantic.

THE NEAT LITTLE DARN.

Why It Was a Pleasure to the Observant Old Lady.

"I love to see a neat little darn in ousehold napery or garments of any kind," said an observant old lady. "It always suggests to me care and neatness and good management. Slovens never darn tidily or take the proverbial stitch in time that saves some useful possession. When I was a little girl, nurse used to tell us a story about a beautiful and rich and altogether delightful and desirable young man who liked two sisters. One was much prettier and livelier than the other, and naturally he rather preferred her to the quieter sister, but on one unlucky day for her he took a walk with her. Her slipper stuck in the road and came off, and he was horribly shocked to see a great hole in the heel of her stocking. Of course he did not like her after that. And the next day, by a strange coincidence, while walking with the plainer sister, she, too, in some way or other, lost her slipper, and this time he noticed the neatest, nicest little darn imaginable on the toe of her stocking and loved her at once and always. Perhaps our nurse's tale has had something to do with my liking for people who darn their things neatly, but I think it shows a desirable characteristic," concluded the old lady.

THE SENSIBLE WOMAN.

Her ambition is to live up to her best photograph.

Not only is she easy to live with, but she is worth living for. She is too clever to talk of woman's rights. She takes them. She is not such a fool as to fancy that any one is ever convinced by argu-

Curtains of Cheesecloth. A girl who likes pretty things in her room, but has not much means for gratifying her tastes, can make very pretty curtains of cheesecloth. A wide hem turned down the sides and across the bottom and stitched on the machine with red, blue or yellow silk, according to the prevailing color of the room, will give an exceedingly charming effect. The curtains may be loope I back with wide bows of taffeta ribbon the same shade as the stitching. If time be abundant, the machine stitching can be replaced by brier work, and a really handsome curtain can be made of this material, which costs only a few cents a yard, by putting a wide border of drawn work inside of the hem. Cheesecloth is woven so loosely that those who are experts in the art of drawn work will find no difficulty at all in doing the work.—Table Talk.

The Stitch In Time.

If you find at night that there is a button gone from any of your garments, sew it on again at once. You will not feel any more like doing it in the morning, neither will it be more convenient. If your collar is even a little soiled remove it from the neck of your dress and baste a clean one in its place before you sleep. Then if you are a little late or hurried in the morning you will be certain of a clean collar. If your gloves are ripped or the least detail of your toilet is ever so little out of order, do not neglect it, thinking no one will notice it. More than you think will notice, though they may not speak to you about it, but they will put you down as careless or that worst of all faults in a woman, slovenly.

A Washing Hint.

When there is a baby in the house there are often little things to be washed out. I find a child's washboard, ten inches long by six inches wide, very useful. It can be placed in the washbowl and is more effective than rubbing between the hands, besides less tiresome. I also find one of use at the cago recently. Trouble was the main entrance to the fair grounds, a game of Regdel. anticipated during the strike, but nothing serious happened and the men are to be complimented that they did not resort to western methods.

Undoubtedly a mistake was made in declaring a strike, without first seeking a conference with the management. An agreement as satisfactory could probably have been secured then as well as this week. With the Editors at St. Louis Last Week.

The editor of the Ledger having returned this week from a pleasant visit to the World's Fair, the readers no our trip and what we think of the big undertaking.

In the first place we will speak of our journey to the grounds. Being a delegate to the National Editorial Convention held at St. Louis, we went with other editors and their ladies on the Louis. It is a solid fast through train the Point. running every day in the year without change of cars between the two cities named. The equipment is as fine as in use on any first class line. All the furnishings of these cars are very elaborate and beautiful, and the cuisine is equal to that of the best hotels. The time made by this train is in an appearance yesterday to play very fast. The distance is 1222 miles which we covered in about 30 hours, or at the rate of 40 miles an hour, included all stops, changes of engines,

But the Inside Inn is one of the big attractions at the fair. It is a new hotel built inside the grounds to entertain visitors. It has 2,000 or more rooms and can accommodate 2,500 in the dining room at one time; and we often saw it full during the first few

The prices are some higher than outside the grounds, $3 to $7 per day; but there is an advantage of not having to pay admittance fee each time you enter the fair grounds. The hotel is run on both the European and American plans, under the management of Mr. E. M. Statler, the wellknown restauranteur of the Buffalo exposition.

We were somewhat surprised on Saturday morning last, to meet on the piazza of the Inside Inn, our worthy townsman, Dr. Fred E. Jones. In fact, he was the only one from Quincy that we met at the fair. We learn that he had been to Buffalo as a witness on an important case, and took the opportunity to make a short visit to the fair.

We will endeavor in our next letter to tell the readers something about the buildings and grounds, but in closing would advise our citizens not to hurry

William Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Flowers for Memorial Day Building Co. of Philadelphia says in nis annual report this week: ORDER EARLY. M. L. TIRRELL, Adams Building.

"The income account for the year shows a net surplus from all the company's operations and interests of $188. 174. But it must be born in mind that under the terms of several of the mortgages against your property and conditions under which the $5,000,000 bonds were issued, we are required to pay onsiderable money each year toward the liquidation of our indebtedness, and as we have no means of refunding these payments, we must look to our earnings for the means of meeting them each year. "It is therefore satisfactory to find that your net surplus for the year has been sufficient to enable us to meet these payments without encroaching on your working capital. The details of these repayments ($145,000) and of certain small improvements ($29,523) are charged to capital account.

"The past year indicates that there has been little or no profit in shipbuildng. Were it not for our subsidiary companies doing business other than The CONGRESS that of building ships, we would not be able to make this showing.

"Our position for the coming year, however, is secure in having in all departments contracts aggregating about $13,000,000, which is an increase over Summer Hosiery and Underclothing the same period of last year of $1,500-000. 17

SAN JUAN A RANGE

Famous Battle Ground Not a Single Elevation

CHARGE OF ROUGHRIDERS

Men Under Roosevelt First Took Kettle Hill, but Two Regiments Suffering Higher Loss--Controversy a Quibble on Names

Wasington, May 28 .- The recent revival of the historian question, whether Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt and his regiment actually took part in the battle at San Juan hill, has not passed unnoticed here. Curious ones have overhauled the records of the war department, and an army officer high in command, speaking of the result, said last evening:

"The wole question is a mere quibble about names. In the battle before Santiago on July 1, one of the hills was called San Juan hill, and from this the battle took its name, just as the battle of Gettysburg took its name from the town of Gettysburg. In neither case did presence at the battle imply being present at the particular spot from which the battle took its name. Meade, Reynolds and Hancock, for instance, were never in the town of Gettysburg, and it would be no more foolish to say that they were not present at the battle of Gettysburg than to make a similar assertion as regards Roosevelt at the battle of San Juan.

"The various brigades and regiments were given orders to attack the various hills. Each did his part in the battle. As Rocsevelt said when questioned on this very matter at Montauk Point, 'I was ordered to take a certain hill; I did not ask its name-I just took it.'

"On April 23, 1900, the adjutant's office issued an official report of the casualties in the Fifth Army corps in the operations against Santiago which culminated in the fight of July 1 and the days immediately following. According to this official list there were present and engaged 23 regiments of infantry and seven of cavalry, six of the latter being dismounted. Of these 30 regiments of infantry and cavalry, 27 stiffered a smaller relative loss than the First United States Volunteer Cavalry, or 'Rough Riders,' the regiment of which President Roosevelt was then the acting colonel. Two only suffered a higher loss.

"To be more specific, the Sixth United States Infantry, with 492 men, lost 127, or nearly 26 percent; this was the heaviest loss of any. Next came the Thirteenth United States Infantry, which, of 465 men, lost 109, or more than 23 percent. Third in order came the Rough Riders, who numbered 583 and lost 127, or nearly 22 percent. To have been under fire and lost more than a fifth of one's command, seems pretty fair proof of having been in the battle."

Reference to the topographical map published by the war department shows that San Juan is the name of a range Fall River ...... 6 and not of a single elevation, though the particular elevation on which was situated the blockhouse which the troops under Hawkins took has become known as San Juan hill. Roosevelt, on the day of the fight, made two distinct charges-one up Kettle hill, and later the one up the San Juan ridge to the Spanish intrenchment overlooking Santiago. The charge up Kettle hill was one deed, while the charge up San Juan was another. The two achievements are differentiated distinctly in the book written by President Dosevelt.

Kettle hill, so-called, is a detached elevation at a considerable distance from the San Juan ridge, and it had no relation to the second charge which Roosevelt led, except that it was the point from which he started on that second charge. After driving the Spaniards from Kettle hill, and supporting with volley firing the troops of Hawkins assailing the blockhouse on San Juan on his left, Roosevelt turned his attention to that part of San Juan which was in front of him.

This hill up which Roosevelt had charged was San Juan, not Kettle. This position he occupied and held throughout the remainder of the afternoon and night as the officer in com-

One of these is Stanley Dillon. This trotter is owned in Detroit, and if he should happen to win there would doubtless be a demonstration. Last season he showed a sen-

If his courage and manners prove of the same stripe when he is subjected to the racing test he ought to be a great factor in the race. If he comes to the post in prime order he will undoubtedly be very heavily backed.

Emma Hoyt is a young mare bred in Indiana and sired by Czar, in his day a noted colt trotter, with a record of 2:121/2 as a three-year-old. She was trained at Lexington, Ky., last season and late in the fall, it is said, worked a mile in 2:09%.

On the strength of this she was sold during the past winter for a price reported variously from $6,500 to $10,-000 to Miss K. L. Wilkes, a Canadian woman of wealth living at Galt, Ont., who has recently invested a large sum in the establishment of a stock farm and racing stable. Harry Stinson trains for her and will campaign Emma Hoyt. Miss Gay is another maiden trotter that was trained at Lexington last season, was credited with a trial below 2:10 and sold last winter for a long price because of it. The purchase was made by a patron of Dick Wilson, the noted Indiana reinsman who won last year's M. and M. after a most thrilling race with the gray gelding John M. Wilson is acknowledged one of the shrewdest and ablest men in the sulky, and the fact that he has personally selected Miss Gay and will train her for the race will in itself give her a large following. If Wilson should win again this year he would do something previously unheard of, for no trainer has ever before succeeded in doing so, though many have tried. Miss Gay is a well bred mare, her sire being Ash-

Points to Be Considered In Inflating Tires.

A most important point to motorists is the proper inflation of rubber tires. If they are filled too much, the car vibrates more, and needless pressure is forced on the retaining outer cover. Tires manufactured for auto car wheels can stand a high pressure, but it is not well to put them to their limit. A prominent tire company has recommended that the pressure should be: For cars carrying a weight of 600 pounds per axle, fifty pounds pressure; for cars carrying a weight of 1,000 pounds per axle, sixty-five pounds pressure; for cars carrying more than 1,000 pounds per axle, sixty-five to eighty- flowers for Memorial Day.

The Bravest of the Brave

Mid the flower-wreathed tombs I stand, Bearing lilies in my hand. Comrades, in what soldier grave Sleeps the bravest of the brave?

Is it he who sank to rest With his colors round his breast? friendship makes his tomb a shrine; Garlands veil it; ask not mine .-

One low grave, you trees beneath. Bears no roses, wears no wreath: Vet no heart more high and warm Ever dared the battle storm:

KNEELING WHERE A WOMAN LIES.

Never gleamed a prouder eye In the front of victory, Never foot had firmer tread On the field where hope lay dead.

They are hid within the tomb Where the untended grasses bloom, And no stone, with feigned distress, Mocks the sacred loneliness.

Youth and beauty, dauntless will, Dreams that life can ne'er fulfill, here lie buried. here, in peace, Urong and woes have found release.

Quincy Team

Other Games of Saturday and the T. Murphy, c.,

The whitewash of the Merrymounts on the morning of Memorial Day by the West Quincys was a surprise to everyne. A large crowd assembled at Merrymount park, and they expected a close game. Although the Merrymounts have captured about everything that faced them this season, they were on this occasion weak at the hat and this occasion weak at the bat, and fielded poorly. Wild throws to first

In McKay and Hughes, however, the West Quincys had a fast battery. They also led the team at the bat, McKay making four safe singles, and Hughes a three bagger and a double. Reardon shared in the stick work honors with hree safe hits, one for two bases. The utfield of the West Quincys had but wo chances and accepted both.

The Merrymounts made but six ingles. In the second, Monroe hit safely to left and reached third before the side was retired. Osgood also reached third in the fourth on a safe hit to centre, steal and sacrifice. In the fifth the Merrymounts filled the bases and Osgood hit a beauty to centre which looked safe, but Rooney got under it. In the sixth, seventh and eighth they got a man on base but only ne, and there they stayed.

In every innings but the last the West cored in five. In the fourth with the bases full Baker at left took in a long ly in fine style closing the innings. sgood also captured a difficult fly in he eighth.

LISTENS TO ARGUMENTS

Care Necessary to Give President Full Party Strength at Election Time--Two Republican Tickets Will Be In Field

Washington, June 1.-President Roosevelt has again made it clear that into local political contests. A delegation of Wisconsin Republicans con-Speaker Penroot of the Wisconsin as- cerned. sembly, C. C. Gittings and Editor Myrick of the Milwaukee Free Press called on the president to discuss Wisconsin politics. They are supporters of Governor La Follette. Their visit was prompted by the recent call on the senten to him the anti-La Follette side of the Wisconsin situation.

They told the president that they versary. did not expect him to interfere in their behalf, that they were willing to fight the battle out in Wisconsin, but that they did want him to know something of their side of the case. They realized $125 that Senators Spooner and Quarles, $75 Postmaster General Payne, Representative Babcock, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor and others who had constant access to the president's ear were all leaders of the stalwart movement, and these men, the delegates said, were not likly to give the president a fair view of the merits of the case. This they attempted to do. The president listened to the statements of both sides, but he informed both definitely that he would have nothing to do with the contest in any way.

The Wisconsin men later met Postnaster General Payne, who has been acting since Mr. Hanna's death as chairman of the national committee, in regard to the temporary control of the convention. The La Follette organization will send one set of delegates, and the stalwarts another, headed by Spooner and Quarles.

The delegation filed with Payne what was practically a notice of contest in behalf of the four delegates-at-large elected by the La Follette faction to the national Republican convention, claiming that they are the rightfully elected representatives-at-large of the state.

Both conventions at Madison nominated the same electoral ticket, which will be two Republican tickets in the field, whichever one the courts may decide to be "regular." Under a law of that state a man who receives a nomination from two parties elects the one with which he shall run, and already the two electors-at-large and a majority their decision to run on the La Follette | cent. ticket. It will thus require very careful individual marking of the ballots on election day to give Roosevelt the benefit of the full party strength in

Murphy Still Opposes Parker New York, June 1.-Charles F. Murphy has resumed work at Tammany hall, after an absence of nearly two weeks at Atlantic City. As soon as he took his place at his desk he denied numerous Atlantic City alleged interviews with him in which he was represented as declaring that he would fight Judge Parker at the St. Louis convention and break away from instructions after the first ballot. He made it clear that he still hopes to prevent Parker's nomination, but he made it clear, too, that he will do nothing which may af fect Tammany's "regularity." If Parker is nominated there will be no bolting by Tammany and no open treachery to the ticket. Democratic Fight In Iowa Detroit, June 1 .- The Democratic state convention to elect delegates to the national convention at St. Louis will probably be a fight to the finish between the so-called conservative and radical wings of the party. While National Committeeman Campau is avowedly in favor of Parker for the presidential nomination, Campau and his supporters are demanding only an uninstructed delegation. On the other hand, Frank L. Fowler, a leader of the so-called Hearst faction, refuses to affirm that he is a Hearst supporter and declares he is simply "anti-Parker."

Figuring on Quay's Successor Pittsburg, June 1.-With the large gathering of politicians from state and country here, after the burial of Senator Quay, it was inevitable that much talk of his successor should be indulged in. Among those mentioned to succeed Quay are John P. Elkin, William Flynn, George T. Oliver and H. C. Frick, but Joseph C. publican state convention, after a ses sion lasting an hour and a half, and after taking three ballots for governor, adjourned until today without having broken the deadlock. The convention, after an 11 days' recess, had reconvened yesterday afternoon. There was a manifest falling off of enthusiasm.

Federal Patronage Reduced

Washington, June 1.-President Roosevelt has written a letter to Secretary Hitchcock declaring that appointments in the forestry service are not to be regarded as senatorial patronage. The order, which is an outgrowth of The recent public land irregularities, will greatly reduce the federal patronage at the disposal of western senators and representatives.

Woman Resists Attempts of Rejected Sultor to Kill Her

New York, June 1.-After trying three times yesterday to kill a girl who had refused to marry him, James Johnson, a Norwegian boarding house keeper, was shot in the left thigh in a battle with the police and is now in Bellevue hospital in a serious condition from loss of blood.

The girl he attempted to kill was Annie Bojland, employed by him as a chambermaid. He also tried to kill her three months ago, and for the same reason. When she refused to marry him then he shot at her, but the girl, who is large and strong, took the revolver away from him and was not infured. After this she left his employ- Janitors, ment, but returned to work for him three weeks ago.

Yesterday forencom Johnson again asked her to marry him and when she refused tried to force her to swallow carbolic acid. Her face was slightly burned, but she got away from him and went on with her work. At noch he made another appeal and, receiving the same reply, pointed a revolver at her. She took this weapon away from him also and still continued at her work. ### COTTAGE AVENUE.

Coddington school: Ruth A. Taylor, Business Men and Property Holders Favor Widening.

The Committee on Streets of the City Council gave a hearing Tuesday evening on the proposed widening of Cottage avenue and acceptance by the city. This avenue is about 500 feet long and connects Hancock street near Music hall with Chestnut street.

One plan proposes to widen the street to 28 feet, and another to 40 feet.

Chairman Gassett presided and Messrs. Stewart, Johnson, McFarland and Gearwar of the committee were present. Rev. E. N. Hardy, who used the street considerable, advocated widening.

cut off in many directions. Representative Fallon favored at length. He is a property holder on the street, and said he would build a 125 foot block on his property if the street was widened. He said it could never be done cheaper than now. It should be done wholly on the Packard side. He understood that they were not as strenuous in opposition as formerly. It was a needed improvement. Favered 40 feet, as 28 feet was too narrow for a business street. If the city could afford to spend $3,000 on Breakneck hill it could afford to appropriate $6,000 or $8,000 for this improvement which was used much more.

John H. Bent, speaking for his mother, an abutter, favored the improvement. The land for the avenue had originally been given by the owners of the lots on the south; not a foot being given by the Packards. The latter had had the benefits of the street. The lots on the south were now only 65 feet deep and the houses were set on the street line, so that it was not feasible to widen on that side. A fair value for the land taken from the A. foot. Unquestionably the estate of Frank C. Packard on the corner of Chestnut street would be damaged.
